WE NOMINATE

Charles Phelps Smyth, the senior member of the Princeton University Faculty in point of service and one of the highly respected chemists of his time, whose recently announced retirement—effective July 1—accentuates all that has been crammed into the post-World War I decades. It was in 1920, 43 years ago, that the 68-year old Smyth was appointed to the University's Department of Chemistry: the population of Borough and Township was conservably one-third of what it is today, the University's overall research budget was less than the funds now allocated to Smyth's research projects alone, and the founding of the Institute for Advanced Study was 10 years away.

Scholarly-appearing, soft-spoken, and a consultant to industry as well as to government, Smyth has helped mold a Princeton and family tradition without parallel in the community's modern era. At one time, from 1924 to 1931, the ranks of the University's scientist-teachers included three members of the Smyth family. Smyth's father, the late Charles Henry Smyth, Jr., was an outstanding petrologist, while his equally energetic younger brother, Henry DeWolf Smyth, author of the celebrated "Atomic Energy for Military Purposes" and presently this country's representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency, joined the Department of Physics in 1924.

During the closing stages of World War II Smyth, a valued adviser to those responsible for the development of the atomic bomb, locked his Frick Laboratory office and undertook top-secret scientific sleuthing which brought him the U. S. Army's Medal of Freedom. As a member of the so-called Alsos Mission (Greek for "Groves," honoring General Leslie D. Groves, wartime head of the A-Bomb project) Smyth spent some seven months behind Nazi lines and shortly before V-E Day, "four days beyond the River Rhine," was responsible for the rapture of the gathering place for all scientific data bearing upon the Nazis' development of the V-2 rocket and other missiles.

Smyth, with the dawn of peace, returned to his Princeton routine and to intensive researches involving mercury compounds, electrical properties of insulating materials, and the structure of molecules. In 1951, in recognition of his research achievements, he received one of the top honors in American chemistry, the Nichols Medal of the American Chemical Society. A year later, the spring of his marriage to the former Emily Ellen Vezin, a "Princeton daughter," and a year also marked by the appearance of one of his major publications, "Dielectrical Behavior and Structure," he was elected to the National Academy of Sciences.

Smyth, a native of Clinton, N. Y., and among the first group of Princeton undergraduates ever elected to Phi Beta Kappa in junior year, received his Princeton master's degree in 1917. Then came a year with the Bureau of Standards as a chemist, the direction of an Army research unit on poison gas in World War I and his doctorate at Harvard. Smyth has little, if any, intention of taking his retirement seriously. He will continue with several of the research programs in which he is now absorbed and hopes to make time not only for more fishing, travelling and tennis but also for writing several papers "in order to catch up on what I have done."

For his capacities for inoculating others with his own contagious enthusiasm for the search for knowledge; for his understanding of the curious amalgam of fact, fancy and tradition that makes this community all that it is, for his contributions to his nation's well-being; he is our nominee for

This Is PRINCETON

"I WANT A JOB"
"And I Need a Helper."

Anyone with doubts about the quality of the Princeton teen-ager should visit the precincts of YES—the Youth Employment Service, an organization now about to complete its second year as match-maker between Princeton's young workers and Princeton's short-handed employers.

Alert, eager, responsible, straining after the job with a challenge, but willing to mow a lawn or feed a baby, the boy or the girl registered with YES is a bargain for an employer anyway you look at it.

At present, 460 young men and women are registered with YES. They fall within the required bracket: 14 years old AND in the 9th grade (14-year-old 8th graders need not apply) through 19 years of age. All are either residents of Princeton or students at Princeton High School.

They are at work, or hope to be, after school or on Saturdays and they are looking ahead to that ripe plum, the full-time summer job "with a challenge."

The kinds of work that can be done by a teen-ager surprise even the teen-ager himself. Many a young man, many a girl have come to the YES office in Dorothea House on John Street, shy and dry-mouthed about being interviewed, yearning for a real job, but afraid that "All I can do is mow a lawn. . . "

With tactful, persistent questioning, the interviewer finds out about the applicant. What do you do for fun — Hunt? Fish? Make your own dresses? Build things?

— One young man said, in the course of his interview, that he was pretty good at rough carpentry. YES found him a job with a householder who wanted a wooden frame and platform built for her trash cans.

Another boy, with similar skills, has gone to work as a carpenter's apprentice, now that he is out of school. It was YES that got him his first carpentry job.

Why Not an Apprentice?

Mrs. Rowan Boone, of the employment service, is enthusiastic about the apprentice system, and she would like to see more employers put it to use. A girl who is hired by an office for part-time work, as one girl has been by a real estate firm, can learn enough about office procedure to fill in all summer during vacation periods. By working in the same office one or two afternoons a week during the school year, she can go back full time the next summer as a really valuable helper to her employer.

Dr. Oscar Sussman, Princeton veterinarian, has had a YES helper for almost two years, a boy who started out by cleaning and feeding the animals and who is now capable of helping Dr. Sussman in the treatment of his sometimes lively patients. The boy, John Counts, plans to become a veterinarian himself.

Other boys and girls have been placed by YES with a drug store as cosmetics clerk; with the University's biology department as an assistant in experiments and as dishwasher for equipment; with Bamberger's in a selling job; with the Princeton Public Library as a typist.

McCarter Theatre found a scenery painter through YES and Educational Testing Service has lined up teen-agers who like the idea of taking experimental tests. A movie theater found ushers and a cashier through Youth Employment Service and TOWN TOPICS is one of Princeton's newspapers which have hired young men for odd jobs.

"YES" AT WORK: Dr. Oscar Sussman (left) is one of many employers who have hired YES boys and girls. John Counts, who came to Dr. Sussman through YES two years ago, has worked for the veterinarian ever since, and will enter Tuskegee Institute this fall to study veterinary medicine himself. Story this page. (Staff Photo)

I say "Yes". One of YES' most consistent employers is Merrill Zinder, owner of the stationery store.

"The people at YES seem to know the kind of person I want," Mr Zinder said. "They sent around a couple of girls, and I hired the first one they sent—she's wonderful! A real pleasure to have around the store."

Mr Zinder's employee works two or three days a week after school, pricing merchandise and training for a sales job. One YES recruit worked into the Zinder establishment so well that, although he has graduated from high school, he continues to work at the store part-time between college classes.

Many stores can use a boy who will be an all-round helper painting shelves, moving stock or driving a truck. Others, like one picture-framing shop in Princeton, wants someone who will learn the trade.

The boy who got an after-school job in a Princeton lawyer's office has a coveted post. So do the two girls hired by a University undergraduate to serve as typists.

Advantage to Employer. A member of the YES board has been visiting Princeton merchants to explain the advantages of YES employees, and the ways they can be worked into even the smallest establishment. Mrs. Boone points out, for example, that the older

Round-Up

Mace-lifting operation in Nassau Hall a bit of unfunny college humor . . . the ceremonial mace, valued at $10,000, and its showcase were stolen last weekend from the faculty room. The silver and ebony staff was, judging by an anonymous phone call, "borrowed by a group of students" who lamented the inability to pursue the tradition of bell-clapper stealing from Nassau Hall's tower.

The caller concluded with the message that the mace, presented by town to gown in 1956 in commemoration of two centuries of neighborly association, "will be duly returned by the perpetrators" . . . If caught, they will doubtless learn from university disciplinary action that mace is not the spice of life.

The Borough Tax Collector asks us to nudge burghers gently with a reminder that tax payments for the second quarter are due May 1. Please take heed.

The town's biggest typographical error of the week appeared on both ends of The Playhouse marquee: THE BIRDS IS HERE. Lack of space for quote marks around the first two words was the cause.

Spring is traditionally a time for the arts in Princeton, and plans for a wide variety of dramatic presentations, exhibitions and concerts are chronicled on pages 5 (theatres), 20 (art) and 23 (music) . . . Music in Princeton also reviews the Dave Brubeck concert which had 'em hanging from the rafters Saturday in McCarter.

Purchase of a business here by a long-time Princetonian who has "come home" is recorded on page 31, while the unusual fashion show which the Business and Professional Women's Club is planning is illustrated on page 18 . . . two high school seniors who won National Merit Scholarships and nine University faculty members advanced to the rank of full professor are among the People in the News on page 17.

A coach whose services the University saw fit to terminate is the nominee for "We Congratulate" (page 27), while a baker's dozen Princetonians give their views on the suspension of pro football players Paul Hornung and Alex Karras in Question of the Week (page 29) . . . Mailbox (page 15) carries letters from physicist Eugene Wigner on TOWN TOPICS' nomination of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer as "Man of the Week" and from a composer who takes issue with the critic who reviewed the Princeton Symphony's premiere of his composition.

Add college humor: Saturday at 9 p.m. police got a call that students had rolled a 2,000-gallon oil storage tank into the middle of Prospect Avenue near the Institute for Defense Analyses building. At 3 that next morning, a tractor-loader was somehow propelled from the rear of the Woodrow Wilson School to College Road near the railroad station, abandoned there.

Friday night someone broke a window, removed screen and entered the golf cart storage area at Springdale Golf Club . . . then forced a door and entered office of pro Harry Kinnell . . . apparently decided to give up golf and left, taking nothing.

Last week's weather: still no rain. Mercury got to 84° last Thursday after a low of 32° the preceding Monday . . . Generally great for walks, terrible for ducks.

Hungry highwaymen . . . have been into five houses on Route 518 near Blawenburg during last fortnight . . . Lifted only food, food, food.

Pigeons knocked WPRB-FM off the air . . . The student-run radio station was grounded Sunday by a combination of pigeon droppings, moisture "and other things" damaging the antenna, according to station rep Daniel French. . . . If replacement for damaged section can be bought, broadcasting could resume in a week, said French, but antenna model no longer made . . . So silence may continue.

registrants, those who are 18 and 19, have no legal work restrictions as the younger ones have, and can be set almost any kind of task.

YES feels, of course, that its prime responsibility is to the young women and the young men registered in its files. Keenly aware of this responsibility, Mrs. Boone has set up a meeting for this Friday with Thomas Saraydarian, head of the Princeton High School guidance department; Mrs. John H. Trimble, head of Family Service; and Patrolman Walter Emann and Sergeant James Koplmer, Township and Borough juvenile officers.

"We think it will be valuable just to exchange information," Mrs. Boone says. "We want to see how we can help each other help the youth of this town, and this is our beginning."

As an example of YES' cooperation with the high school, Mrs. Boone tells about the Princeton florist who wanted a girl to train in floral arrangements. YES asked Princeton High School for the names of girls who might like to do this kind of work.

Where Help Means Much. The link between YES and juvenile officers is, of course, obvious. YES feels a particular responsibility for the boy on its rolls who has trouble "making good." His job record isn't the best, employers have had problems with him. The temptation is to cross him off.

"But he's the one who needs us most," Mrs. Boone says. "If we can teach him job responsibility, and work with the Family Service Agency and the juvenile officers to help him, if we have to, then we've done that boy some real good."

To conclude on what is, quite literally, a lighter note, there is the story of the housewife who called YES last Christmas and asked for a girl who could play Christmas carols at a party.

The next day, the woman's indignant husband called back and cancelled the order. "What does she mean, asking you to get a piano player for our party!" he snorted. "I am a perfectly good piano player myself—or, at least, I'm not too bad when I practice. I promised her I WOULD practice, and she has no business hiring a YES piano player over my head!"

Person To Person

Cory S. Kammler

A story caught our attention that's been going the rounds in diplomatic circles, and, we understand, originated in the London Daily Telegraph. Here it is: The Foreign Secretaries of Britain, France, America and Russia went on a safari, and according to a report from a Hungarian Journal, they shot a lion. Then they drew lots to determine who would guard the lion while the rest set out to find some sort of transportation to cart the lion back to their base. Gromyko drew the short straw and was left to guard the lion. On their return the lion was missing, and the following dialogue ensued: "Where is the lion, Gromyko?" "What lion?" "Did we not bag a lion and were you not left to guard it?" "Of course." "Well, then, Gromyko, where is the lion?" "What lion?" asked Gromyko. This story gives a humorous illustration of the grim fact that neither logic nor reason can be expected from them, unless it will serve their own purposes. It brings up the question, can even logic and reason be accepted at face value from them when we know it is solely for their own purposes? So much double-talk is beyond us plain folks . . . but it reminds us to say that in our business we talk very plainly in order to serve your best interests. SITE OF HOSPITAL'S PROPOSED OPERATION: This composite picture and sketch shows, in outline, where Princeton Hospital is planning to graft its new "J" Building onto the present structure and to add to its power plant and service areas. The "J" unit (lower right), with a ten-story potential, will be located near the corner of Witherspoon Street and Franklin Avenue. New entrance drive would enter hospital grounds from Witherspoon Street at lower left, exit to Henry Avenue at left of picture. Small rectangle in middle of proposed service extensions is approximate location of new power plant stack. Requests for necessary variances will come before the Borough Zoning Board this Thursday evening. Story, this page.

TOPICS Of the Town

HOSPITAL WING PLANNED

Zoning Variances Asked. Princeton Hospital, like all hospitals throughout the country, is an ever-growing institution. Hospital growth is necessitated by two constant and inescapable factors: the steadily increasing area population and the innumerable continuing advances in medical diagnosis and treatment.

These two causes must inevitably be translated into enlarged facilities, new equipment, increasing kinds and numbers of personnel and greater quantities of supplies and services. In its planning for and development of these essential improvements, Princeton Hospital has long been considered something of a model of its type and kind by experts in the hospital field.

This Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the Borough Engineering building, 102 Witherspoon Street, Princeton Hospital's board of trustees will ask the Borough Zoning Board to grant certain variances which will enable the hospital to continue its long-range plans for meeting the needs of the area it serves over the next 10 to 15 years. These plans, under consideration by the hospital board since 1959, have been worked on and reworked many times using the combined experience of the medical staff, the board and its planning committees, the administration and specialists in the field of hospital architecture.

Proposed plans which will require the granting of zoning variances include a new nursing and treatment wing, now referred to as "J" Building, and an addition to that part of the hospital which houses the power plant and service areas (see picture above).

Variances Listed. The variances to be requested include:

- A front yard variance for a portion of the proposed "J" building which would extend towards Witherspoon Street, and side yard variance for a part which would extend towards Franklin Avenue.
- A height variance to permit the gradual development over at least ten years of the "J" unit to a possible maximum of ten stories. Because of the hospital's location and because of economic, medical architectural and administrative necessity, vertical expansion of the "J" building is the only practical plan available to the hospital board.
- A height variance to allow for a required new power plant stack and boiler room.
- A variance for a part of the proposed service addition which would extend to the northeast of the present building.

In addition, the Zoning Board will be asked by the hospital board of trustees to grant other general variances from the strict application of present requirements with respect to front, side and rear yard and height ordinances. These variances are being requested on the grounds that Princeton Hospital represents an essential public service institution of the community, that its situation under its present and proposed physical features is unique and therefore requires special zoning consideration.

Future Additions to Unit. The hospital's trustees state in their petition for these variances that it would be necessary to have clear approval of the height factor now. Reason for this would be to permit installation of foundations and structural steel sufficient to support future vertical additions to the "J" building.

Plans for the new unit, which will be built a floor at a time as need arises and funds become available, include diagnostic centers such as a laboratory and X-ray department on the ground floor. The second floor would include a maternity unit of approximately 30 beds.

The third floor is planned as the location for mechanical equipment necessary to the operation of the building. All other floors, up to the possible eventual maximum of ten for the entire structure, would be bed floors with nursing stations along double corridors. Present long-range planning is for a total of 325 beds in the new unit.

According to the 1962 annual report, issued in February, there are 196 beds in the hospital at the present time. Using the 1960 census figures and the institution's past growth patterns for projection, the board has estimated that by 1970 there will be need for a minimum of 280 beds and bassinets, and by 1975 this figure is expected to rise to 325.

In addition, the use of X-ray services has more than quadrupled, laboratory services nearly tripled during the past ten years, making evident even greater use of these facilities over the next decade and consequent need for expansion into the "J" unit. To quote one authority in the field, "Every medical advance can be measured in terms of added hospital costs and added hospital personnel."

Because the new building would eliminate much of the parking area now provided in front of the present structure. room for 340 cars will be available in the present parking lot in the rear of the main property and in the lot across from the hospital on Franklin Avenue. This is well in excess of the required number of off-street parking locations.

A new entrance drive is planned to enter the hospital grounds from Witherspoon Street between the Medical Arts building and the new unit. This would provide access to the proposed main entrance, which would be located at the southeast corner of "J" building, and to the Medical Arts offices. The driveway would then exit into Henry Avenue via property now owned by the hospital.

Additions to the service building in the rear of the hospital, which the Zoning Board will also be asked to approve at Thursday night's meeting, will be used to expand the power plant, laundry, locker and storage rooms and dietary department.

According to hospital administrator John W. Kauffman, it will be several months before any cost figures for the new construction will be available. In citing the need for the additions he also stressed the point that Zoning Board approval would be necessary before the hospital could proceed with its plans.

JOHNSONS ABSOLVED

By Grand Jury, J. Seward Johnson, Jr. and his estranged wife, Mrs Barbara Johnson, were both absolved by the Grand Jury of any crime during the raid which he and a party of detectives conducted on their 75 Cleveland Lane home on February 8

Concludng its lengthy hearings in Trenton on Tuesday the jury voted not to indict Mr. Johnson for forcing an entrance in the house in predawn hours, apparently on the grounds that he was legally entitled to enter his home Mrs. Johnson was cleared of all guilt on charges resulting from her shooting of the detective who entered her bedroom.

Two members of the raiding party were indicted and will stand trial on charges of atrocious assault. They are Harry Purcell, 40, of West Caldwell, who headed the detective agency which was later dissolved as a result of the raid, and his assistant, Joseph Pelusio, 34, of East Orange

The men are accused by W. Darby Bannard, 28, and Irving Potts, 28, of attacking them anr Mrs. Johnson's 14-year old son, Bruce, after they had entered the house. Charges against all others, including Harvey D. Blount, 50, were dismissed by the jury. Blount was the first to enter Mrs. Johnson's bedroom and it was he who was shot five times by Mrs. Johnson in selfdefense.

In all, 56 of the 59 indictable charges were rejected by the jury. Prosecutor Stanley Rutkowski said that 18 others were not indictable but can be heard in magistrate's court

REFERENDUM COMING

On Township Schools. Township boys and girls took home with their Wednesday Bulletins this week a printed brochure explaining the May 7 bond issue on Riverside and Littlebrook school expansion. Public hearing on the issue will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m in Community Park School.

Township taxpayers will decide, in the referendum, whether to authorize expenditure of $562,000 for additions to the schools. The actual bond issue is only $512,000 because the school board saved $50,000 on Community Park school construction

In the three years, the school population in the eastern part of the Township has increased by 50 percent — from 600 to 900 boys and girls. By September, 1964, school officials anticipate about 1,200.

In April, 1958, when the school board of that year sent out a brochure explaining the need for Riverside and Johnson Park schools, the board said that additions would probably be needed by the mid-60's and the schools were designed and built with this expansion in mind.

There is no need for an addition to Johnson Park at this time because the Township's population growth has been on the opposite side of town, and because Community Park has taken some of the pressure off Johnson Park.

Riverside. The Board plans to add 11 rooms to Riverside: nine classrooms, an additional kindergarten room and a gymnasium, which will be made by enclosing the covered play area. Riverside is so crowded this year that one kindergarten class meets at Valley Road Next year, before the additions have been completed, the Riverside library will have to be used as a classroom to take care of the first grade that will grow out of the kindergarten now meeting at Valley Road.

State law sets a minimum of 25 children in a kindergarten class. When the additions have been finished, Riverside will be complete as a school, and no further additions will be made.

Littlebrook. Construction here is chiefly for "upgrading" the school. Littlebrook, the first of the Township's new schools, was built in 1955 before present educational specifications had been

—CUTTEN DRYD

The longest dry spell at this time of year in U.S. Weather Bureau history has produced the greatest danger from dry fields and forests, and last weekend they were burning in some measure almost everywhere in the state.

It has been more than four weeks (March 20-21) since heavy rain last fell. Precipitation on Tuesday of this week was welcome but of no lasting value, with less than a tenth of an inch recorded. Through the coming weekend, the prediction is for temperatures below normal and little or no rain.

News Of The THEATRES

TI'S MOTHERS DAY

At "Gypsy!" Rehearsals. Everybody is a mother in "Gypsy!" except the children. Even the strippers in the P.J.&B. production are played by mothers: Betty Fussell is the mother of two, and Joan Lucas, Rita McDowell and Ann Sheldon are each the mother of three.

Wyn Hinman of Flemington plays the mother of the two girls, Louise and June, who become famous as Gypsy Rose Lee and June Havoc.

One of the children in the cast untied the apron strings and came to try-outs without her mother. Robin Conover, age 12, decided on her own that she would like to be in the show, called McCarter Theatre and made her own appointment for an audition. Successful? She landed the part of Baby Louise, the young Gypsy Rose Lee.

"Gypsy!" is directed by Milton Lyon. Its company includes professionals, well-known commuters, well-known housewives and well-known eggheads. Also children.

Tickets are on sale at the McCarter Theatre box-office. The dates: Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 2, 3 and 4 in McCarter, with a matinee Saturday at 2:30.

"THAT'S DOG-FOOD, MOMMA": The economics of putting your daughter on the stage can be pretty lean meat sometimes, as Rose (Wyn Hinman, left) discovers when she starts to push her darling Louise (Robin Conover) out toward the footlights. Baby Louise eventually becomes Gypsy Rose Lee, as all students of the theatre know. "Gypsy!", the chronicle of this historic family, opens in McCarter next Thursday for a three-night and matinee run. (Ulli Steltzer Photo)

"BROTHERS" CONTINUES

In University Chapel. "The Brothers Karamazov," an interpretive dramatization by David Cain, will be presented in three performances this week at 8.30 in the University Chapel. The play, given by the Chapel Deacons, will be seen Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Mr. Cain, a senior at Princeton, has divided the Dostoyevsky work into three parts, each with five "illuminations." According to the program note, "One moves from 'illumination' to 'illumination' as if one were walking through a dark castle with a box of stick matches. One strikes a match and a hard rock wall is lighted.

"The match dies. One takes a few steps without the continuity of light and again strikes a match. Another area of wall bursts out and presses down upon one."

The performances are open to the public without charge. Last Thursday and Friday, the choir seats were filled well before curtain time, so early arrival is advised for this week's showings.

The sets and lighting are handled by Daniel Perry, and costumes by Shirley Rennie. The music was composed and arranged by Ernest Pakou and Dietrich Forster, with choreography under the direction of Virginia Karczewski.

"GIT IN HERE, TOM!"

Mark Twain Classic Coming. Tom Sawyer, Huck Finn, Injun Joe and Aunt Polly will tread the boards at McCarter Theatre on Tuesday, May 7. The Mark Twain classic, "Tom Sawyer," will be given at 3:30 by the Traveling Playhouse as the final play in the Borough PTA's Children's Entertainment series.

The Traveling Playhouse, a group originated by a Rockefeller Foundation grant 13 years ago, will present a new dramatization of the old story. Tom and Huck will visit the graveyard at midnight, and hunt for treasure in a hidden cave. Becky Thatcher, who is "pretty smart for a girl," and Judge Thatcher will not be overlooked, and of course, there is that fence which has to be white-washed before the circus comes to town.

Reservations should be made in advance in case of a sell-out. Mrs. Wayne V. O'Neil of 115 Lafayette Road, ticket chairman, may be reached from 1 to 3 Mondays through Fridays.

NEW SEASON TO OPEN

At Bucks Playhouse. Neil Simon's new comedy, "Nobody Loves Me," will open the Bucks County Playhouse season Saturday. Scheduled to run through Saturday, May 11, it is the first of ten productions. The season will close in mid-September with each offering playing two weeks.

Mike Nichols will direct the cast which includes Mildred Natwick, George Voskovec, Elizabeth Ashley and Robert Redford. Miss Natwick co-starred with Henry Fonda in "Critic's Choice," and Mr. Voskovec appeared in the leading role of Paddy Chayevsky's "Middle of the Night" at the Playhouse. Mr. Nichols of the comedy team of Nichols and May, will make his debut as a director with the Simon production.

Mr. Simon's "Come Blow Your Horn" was presented at the Playhouse as a premiere three years ago, and his "Little Me" is a hit Broadway musical. Reservations may be made by calling 215-862-2041 or writing the Playhouse, New Hope, Pa. A discount of 20 percent is available for season subscriptions, and theatre parties of 24 or more will receive reduced rates.

REHEARSALS BEGIN

For New Ballet. "Echoes of Paris," a new ballet set to the music of Francis Poulenc and with choreography by Mila Gibbons, will be presented on the afternoon and evening of May 18 by the Aparri Ballet.

Several of the dancers took part in the recent production of "The Brothers Karamazov" at the Princeton University Chapel.

FOUR BALLETS PLANNED

For May 18 and 19. The Princeton Ballet Society, directed by Audree Estey, will present "Les Sylphides," "Pastels," "Hour Glass," and "Festival of the Gnomes" Saturday and Sunday, May 18 and 19, in McCarter. After Friday, May 3, tickets will be available at the University Store or by calling WA 4-3355.

Margot and Roland Guerard are restaging the classic "Les Sylphides" for the Ballet Society. The ballet represents the blending of motion and music bathed in the radiance of soft moonlight. "Pastels" has been created by Mrs. Estey to music by Debussy, and covers the course of a dancer's career from the Degas' ballet scenes.

Will Johnson composed the original score for "Hour Glass," Margaret L. Sinclair's creation. She is a teacher at the Ballet Society. Her offering is an allegorical tale of the power of love to put off death.

GARDEN

Freud (now playing) tells the story of the Austrian genius who fathered psychoanalysis, recounting the five most critical years in his life.

During those years, 1885 to 1890, Freud struggled to bring to light what became the famed theory of man's unconscious mind, and the corollary concept, the Oedipus Complex, or the jealous love of a child for a parent.

For Freud, producer John Huston selected Montgomery Clift, who undertakes his most exacting role to date. In support of Clift is Susannah York as the beautiful girl whose physical illness and cure by the application of the developing Freud theory is actually a fictionalized distillation of several of Freud's actual cases. Larry Parks plays a phsician friend of Freud, who cannot agree with his infantile sexual concept.

Others in the cast are Susan Kohner as Freud's understanding wife, Eileen Herlie as Susannah's mother, and Eric Portman as Freud's superior at the General Hospital in Vienna, who is in unreconcilable conflict with Freud.

The photography of locations in Vienna where Freud actually worked and the special techniques in the dream sequences are most impressive. Huston develops the story as an engrossing mystery as Freud uses the case of Miss York to develop his dawning thesis. The sexual manifrstations are handled with frankness. Comment: Freud distilled.

PLAYHOUSE

The Birds (now playing) is based on the classic thriller by Daphne du Maurier which tells of a terrifying war against the inhabitants of a small town in northern California.

The unusual melodrama, Alfred Hitchcock's first film since "Psycho," begins on a light comedy level with "Tippi" Hedren meeting Rod Taylor in a San Francisco pet shop. She follows him to Bodega Bay on the flimsy pretext that she is bringing a present, a pair of lovebirds, for his sister — whom she has not even met.

In typical Hitchcock "counterpoint," the frothy situation is disrupted by the first bird hostilities. Hundreds of gulls suddenly swoop down, attacking children. Stark terror hits the entire community after a man is pecked to death by the assaulting birds. The climax of the bird war is incredible. Comment: not for the faint-hearted.

My Six Loves (opens Sun.) stars Debbie Reynolds in her usual role - romantic comedy with a dash of glamour and song. In supporting parts are Cliff Robertson and David Janssen as the handsome love interests; Eileen Heckart as a neurotic secretary; Jim Backus, a wacky policeman, and six fast-moving kids-ages 5 to 12. There's also a goofy dog.

The plot revolves around a glamourous and successful musical-comedy star (our Debbie) who collapses from fatigue during a press conference. She leaves the hustle of Broadway for the poetic charm of Connecticut, where she becomes entangled with six homeless children, a dog and her housekeeper's beatnik daughter. The problems pile up Damon Runyan-fashion, and there are some wildly funny moments. Comment: family film.

PRINCE

The Birds (thru. Sat.) — see review above.

Who's Got the Action? (opens Sun.) Things get humorously complicated, but in essence the film concerns Lana Turner as the wife of well-to-do lawyer Dean Martin. She becomes upset when she discovers that Dean is more interested in horses than in her. With the help of Eddie Albert, Lana decides to win back her husband, who's a steady loser, by secretly taking his bets herself.

Dean begins to win at tremendous odds. Comic criminal czar, Walter Matthau, hustles to find out "who's got the action" away from him. Comment: guys and gags.

NEW STRAND

Through A Glass Darkly and The Magician (Thurs. thru Sat.) These films conclude the theatre's Igmar Bergman Festival. A new Bergman series is planned for next fall.

Lucky Jim and "The Sky Above, The Mud Below (Sun. thru. Tues.) The double feature marks the opening of the New Strand on a seven-nights-a-week basis. "Lurky Jim" is a bitter spoof on academic life at a hallowed English university. "Sky Above" is a documentary which chronicles an expedition into Dutch New Guinea. The explorers bring the first rontact of the modern world with natives who have been isolated and culturally stagnant for an estimated 25,000 years.

ARE YOU A BRIDE?

Silver Shop Will Help. Somebody ought to count up the number of mothers-of-the-bride who have nervous breakdowns after the ceremony. It is greater than you think.

With these harrassed souls in mind — and, of course, with the bride in mind, too — The Silver Shop on Palmer Square has set up a Bridal Counselling Service. The idea is to take the scheduling and the stage managing and the hard work away from bride and mother, and leave them with only the delights and rewards of what is, or should be, a radiantly happy period in life.

The bridal counsellor for the Silver Shop is Mrs. Julia Kuehnemund, well-known in Princeton for her work in this field. The shop can also arrange for discussions with an expert who will advise on the choice of silver, china, glass, the bridal gown, trousseau and even furniture for the new home.

What you do is call the Silver Shop, WA 4-2026, or stop in at 59 Palmer Square West, to arrange for an appointment with Mrs. Kuehnemund. She will come to your home, discuss the wedding with you, and spread out before you all the services she has to offer, services that will assure you of an impeccably correct wedding in every detail, without involving you in the burden of detail.

For example, she will send the engagement announcement to the newspapers, arrange for the wedding invitations and see that they are mailed at the correct time. She will take you easily through that labyrinth that involves arrangements for the church, the reception and the flowers, the caterer and the orchestra, if you want one.

Through her connectons with Bachrach in New York, she will arrange for wedding pictures And she will advise you on correct procedure all the way so that you needn't concern yourself with what's what for an informal wedding, as opposed to a formal one, and so on.

Mrs. Kuehnemund will also undertake the direction of rehearsal and wedding, although "direct" is used here in an off-stage sense, because she doesn't move right into the church and take over. She works only with the permission and co-operation of the minister, with a quiet sense of the spiritual values inherent in the marriage ceremony. Under her guidance, your wedding will be correctly and beautifully handled.

OPEN THE LINEN

Let in the Breeze. A linen knit, open and breezy as a top deck, may well be the dress you'll live in all summer long, especially if travel is on your date-book.

Mary Gill is showing a collection in sherbet colors like pale yellow, pale pink, pale blueberry blue, and a variety of simply cut styles. Consider, for a start, the possibilities of a cap sleeved dress with round neckline, self-buttons and a tassel on the waist tie. The linen openwork weave is mixed with arnel (rayon in the case of some dresses) to keep it from mussing. Of course, it's washable, too.

Out, Spotted Spurge.

We've always just called them "weeds," although we've grudgingly given to dandelion and crabgrass a name of their own. Life has changed, however, since we examined the weed chart at Urken's the other day.

Here, gardeners, is the real thing. Here is Creeping Beggarweed (stick-tight, to you) and that nasty little piece called Henbit, or dead nettle.

Spotted spurge is known also as prostrate spurge, you'll be glad to know, and if you think crabgrass is just one problem, wait till you find there is more than one kind. Smooth crabgrass (the city slicker of the family, probably) and something revolting called Hairy Crabgrass (alias Fingergrass). Goosegrass is Silver Crabgrass, as if sterling could make it anything more than a weed.

Coco sedge is also known as nut grass. Did you know? We also discovered that dandelion is otherwise known as dandelion. The Weedone people are responsible for all this erudition. They have a vested interest, as you have guessed.

A three-piece has a yellow background for deeper yellow knit squares. The cardigan is bound with the deep yellow and the overblouse is fashioned of it, too. Comes in rose as well.

Then, just to be different, there's an oyster white shot with silver (beige with gold) cut in a sleeveless shift with a deep U neck, fore and aft, and jacket with a collar of loops that hugs the collarbone. Prices on all these linen knits, $39.95 to $55.

On the woven linen rack, Mary Gill shows a pale pink overblouse with a dollar-sized French knot at the shoulder, and a very bright pink straight skirt. Pink again in a one-piece with cap sleeves and a lady-like neckline.

But you can't go formal all

WEDDINGS

Henderson-Carithers. Miss Linda C. Carithers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Edwin Carithers of Indianapolis, Ind., to Lieutenant Paul Henderson Jr., son of Brigadier General (USMC Ret.) and Mrs. Frederick P. Henderson of 167 Laurel Circle. February 25, Trinity Episcopal Church, Indianapolis.

It's New To Us

the time. Put on Midge Grant's sleeveless overblouse in natural linen with bright turquoise and deep olive bands around the bottom and the V-neck. You'll wear it with a turquoise linen skirt that is one, clean sweeping line from hem to top — no skirt band or belt. Duck, denim and Madras front closing.

Seersucker is summer's fabric look at the charcoal-white-tan stripe with pleated skirt on camisole top, and a low-necked muddy overblouse. Another is a brown Glen plaid costume with permanently pleated skirt and waist length jacket.

Variations on the sweater dress this season. One of Mary Gill's is whipped cream daeron with accordion pleats, no sleeves and a swirling, chartreuse-blue-white print. Its chartreuse orlon sweater has a swirl of applique on the shoulder. Pink mohair with long sleeves covers up a slub-weave dress with string tie at the waist and cap sleeves.

Mary Gill's answer to the shift is a sinuous pale green-blue silk with three-inch hem slits and a hairline avocado- and blue string tie.

PUNCH A TOMATO

Or a Petunia. Punch 'n Gro, by Northrup King, is a seeding device for lazy gardeners who lack confidence about their green thumbs.

Exploring Urken's one day, we found a whole series of Punch'n Gro, ranging from standard tomatoes, to those wonderful little cocktail tomatoes, to marigold, impatiens, ageratum, petunias — where's our catalogue?

The kit consists of a plastic box containing vermiculite and covered with a tight tray which has been dented by 12 little cones. Under each cone is a cluster of seeds, dormant, and awaiting your magic stick.

Punch a stick into each cone, and then gently flood the tray with water, allowing it to drip into each cone. Remove the cover after 24 hours, keep the whole thing warm until seedlings appear (no, not on the radiator) and then sit back and sprinkle salt on the ripe, warm tomato.

Urken's is ripe for every gardener these days, with Scotts' turf-builder, a vinyl-coated fencing that comes in white or green, to match your choice, and more garden tools than your aching back probably wants: claws to scrape the ground, shears to prune a fruit tree, lawn mowers to cut down what that turf-builder has so carefully built up, and — if it ever rains again — a special gadget to attach to your downspout to distribute gutter water evenly over your lawn.

And, after you've made that lawn, Urkens has badminton sets and whiffle balls to limber up the knee that's stiff from gardening.

developed. The additions will give to Littlebrook a library, a room for both music and art and an extra classroom. Over the years, a make-shift library has been shunted about from main lobby to classroom, and back to lobby again. Individual music lessons have been given in a supply closet, or in whatever empty classrooms happened, briefly, to be available.

Board of Education members say that these additions will raise taxes about four points during 1965, the first full year of payment. This amounts to about $12 a year more in taxes on a house assessed at $30,000.

TEENAGE PARTY CRASHED

Police Are Called. When a private teen-age party on the Princeton-Kingston Road was invaded Friday night by some 40 uninvited, beer - drinking youths, the parents quickly called Township police to prevent trouble. Sergeant Lester Anderson and Patrolman Frank Boccanfuso responded, and advised the parents to send their guests home.

At about that time, a report came to the two policemen that a car had overturned at nearby Prospect Avenue Extension. When they reached their patrol car on the way to investigate the accident, they discovered that its windshield had been smashed and the left side of the roof dented with a rock.

On their return to the Kingston Road home, they found the party had been disbanded. The identity of the host family has been withheld by Police Chief James B. Campbell.

Chief Campbell said that a search of the field near the home on Kingston Road, where the youths had congregated, revealed evidence of ice, beer and liquor. However, in contrast to an incident of similar nature earlier this spring at the Bayard Lane home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bramwell, no damage was done to the house and there were no injuries.

Police are attempting to compile a list of all those who invaded the party. A number of those involved were over 21, Chief Campbell said.

STUDENT IS ATTACKED

On Prospect Avenue. A Princeton University student was attacked on Prospect Avenue early Sunday morning by several unidentified youths.

David Field, Class of 1966, was attacked near Fitzrandolph Road as he was walking a young lady to the home of Mrs. Paul Strayer, 114 Prospect, where she was rooming. Mrs. Strayer called the police to report that she had taken Mr. Field to the University infirmary.

Mr. Field was treated for a one-inch laceration of the scalp. His wallet was not taken, police said.

ALARM FOILS BURGLARS

Kresge's Store Is Target. Burglars failed in their attempt to enter Kresge's Department Store in the Princeton Shopping Center early Saturday evening when they were apparently deterred by a wailing alarm system.

Patrolman Frank Boccanfuso of the Township Police reported he found the store's front doors jimmied but still chained together. One crowbar was found near the door and another crowbar near the door of the rear office.

DON'T Start Fires!

An urgent plea that all outdoor fires be prohibited until sufficient rain ends the extremely dangerous conditions which now exist has been telegraphed to Borough Hall by H. Matt Adams, commissioner of the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

According to Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney, no outdoor fire may be started in the borough without a permit from Fire Chief Samuel G. Davison, and because of the current danger no such permits will be issued until the crisis is past.

Township Police Chief James B. Campbell and Fire Warden Bertram Henderson have issued similar warnings about starting fires in the township. Persons are also warned against the acute danger of throwing cigarette butts, matches and the like from vehicles.

In West Windsor, Mayor Malcolm B. Roszel also warned residents not to start fires and said that no permits will be issued.

SUPPORT OPEN HOUSING

Group Seeks Signatures. Princeton residents who believe in equal opportunity in housing are being asked this week by the Princeton Housing Group to sign a statement affirming their belief.

The statement, which appears on page 19 of this week's TOWN TOPICS, invites all residents to join in what the housing group calls "a practical demonstration of applied democratic principles." The YWCA Public Affairs Committee and the Princeton Pastors Association have joined the Princeton Housing Group in asking the community to give serious thought to the statement.

According to Leonard F. Newton, Convener for the Princeton Housing Group, more than 400 families have already signed statements circulated in Princeton by church organizations. Among groups that have turned in their reports are the Calvary Baptist Church, Ethical Culture Fellowship, First Presbyterian Church, Jewish Center, Lutheran Church of the Messiah, Religious Society of Friends and the Unitarian Church.

In recent months, the Housing Group has been working closely with the YWCA Public Affairs Committee, making lists of the properties that are available to buyers of all races on a nondiscriminatory basis. In addition, the Housing Group is concerned with the broader field of race relations, and provides speakers on these subjects to civic and religious groups.

Formed almost ten years ago by a group from the First Presbyterian Church, the Princeton Housing Group is an informal organization whose membership rolls are open to anyone interested in the elimination of discriminatory practices, particularly in housing. Those who served as convener, prior to Mr. Newton, are Mrs. Lester Chandler, the Rev. Kenneth Dannenbauer and Richard Watkins. Additional information may be obtained by calling WA 4-0861.

FIELD FIRES BURN

Pennington Area Hit. By and large, Princeton residents counted their blessings this week, dry though they were, as they read accounts of tinder blazes and disaster elsewhere in New Jersey and in New York.

A Pennington fireman, James McLaughlin, 42, suffered first degree burns on his face while fighting a field fire Sunday afternoon in the Pennington area, but he seemed to be the only casualty.

A series of field fires in Ewing and Hopewell townships flared up in the wake of sparks from a Reading Railroad diesel switch engine on its way from West Trenton to Pennington. It was halted by state police near the North Main Street overpass in Pennington. Carbon blowing from the engine stack apparently touched off the fires, police said.

In the period between Friday and Monday nights, 40 field fires broke out in the area covered by Montgomery Township on the north and Plainsboro, West Windsor and parts of South Brunswick on the south. The only property lost was a deserted barn on Cranbury Road opposite Grovers Mill. State police estimate that total property damage in this area amounts to about $2,000.

Minor fires plagued Princeton Township over the weekend, but all were kept under control, according to police.

SCHOOL BUDGET SUNK

By Housing Development. A new housing development, Princeton Ridge, has thrown the Rocky Hill Board of Education for an $6,500 loss.

In a letter read at the Borough Board of Education meeting Tuesday, Raymond Durling, secretary of the Rocky Hill board, explained his district's dilemma.

He stated that the Rocky Hill budget, compiled in 1962 did not anticipate the flood of high-school-age pupils brought to the community by the new development. He requested that his district be permitted to make partial payments on tuitions for the time being. He added that the alternative would be to hold a special election before the end of the school year to float the needed funds.

The Borough board, noting that a number of Borough residents have moved to Rocky Hill in the past year, agreed to grant the request. "This is no precedent, actually," commented Dr. Charles R. Stroup, superintendent. "This is one of the reasons why we carry a reserve."

Teacher Changes Made. Two resignations were accepted by the board, and 11 appointments were made to the teaching staff.

Teachers resigning as of this June are Richard Wolfe, mathematics teacher at Witherspoon School who will study statistics at Rutgers, and Mrs. Ruth M. Mortenson, for maternity reasons. Anthony Borzok bowed out as coach of the freshman football team, but will continue to coach basketball.

Appointments include Miss Carol Jones of Hopewell, an honor graduate of Princeton High School, Class of 1958, currently studying at the University of Paris on a Fulbright Scholarship, as French Teacher; Mrs. Marion Buckland, wife of school board member John A. Buckland, who will become a third grade teacher after serving for two years as a substitute, and Mrs. Janes S. Jacobs, also of Princeton, a Smith College graduate who will teach high school English.

Also, Mrs. Bernice Rydell of Pennington, business education, replacing retiring Miss A. Myrtle Hensor; Miss Jean Ann Donohue, English; Daniel H. Maguire, class for educable retarded children; Miss Helle Thompson, physical education, Mrs. Arlene Loder, high school English; Miss Susan Jablonsky, biology; and Miss Barbara Ann Rousch, high school French. Four teaching positions remain to be filled.

CAN YOU COUNT?

Census Takers Needed. The Township's school-and population census will get under way on Monday, May 6, the Board of Education announced Thursday, and anyone who would like to help in the countdown is asked to call Mrs. Donald Blattner, WA 4-2091.

The municipality has been divided into about 90 areas, and the board estimates that one census taker can cover an area in two afternoons and an evening. Residents will be asked to provide information for two coded cards, one for information about children in the family, the other for information about parents.

"We have this feedback problem of not knowing where we stand with people who live in the Township," said Mrs. John McAndrew, board member in charge of public relations, at the Thursday meeting.

In a lengthy discussion about the problem of two-way communication in the Township, board members wondered how they could find out what people are thinking.

Role of PTA. "Shouldn't this come through the PTA?" asked A. Robert Trudel. "They should feel free to come to us with complaints."

Mrs. Richard Schoch said that PTAs should send delegates to board meetings, and suggested that the board set aside a specific time for the delegates to speak.

"I'm upset because of the lack of petitions to DO things," commented Richard Pearson, board chairman. "Maybe people are content with what we're doing. But the community should be positively pressuring the board to go the way it wants the board to go."

RIVERSIDE SCHOOL WILL BE BIGGER: This architect's drawing shows the way Riverside School will look in September, 1964, after the proposed additions have been completed. Across the lower left is the new classroom wing with its 10 new classrooms. The rectangular structure in the center is the new gymnasium, which will be made by enclosing the present play area. At the far right is the new kindergarten room. Voters will pass on the new construction in a bond issue referendum May 7.

War II, he served five years with the infantry, holding the rank of captain at the time of his release from active duty.

WHWH RESUMES BUILDING

After Year's Delay. Radio station WHWH, owned by Nassau Broadcasting, will resume construction of its transmitter building in Hopewell Township after 12 months' delay caused by residents' protests. The Superior Court has ruled that the six, 187-foot towers can remain but that a small studio could be built under the permit granted by the Township.

However, according to Herbert W. Hobler, company president, several downtown Princeton locations are being considered for the main studios and offices. The station expects to start broadcasting the last week in August.

WHWH (1350 on the dial) will have 5,000 watts of power. It will broadcast from 6 a.m. until midnight, staffed by 11 people. Its beam will reach an estimated million in central New Jersey, from north of Flemington, east to Franklin Park, approximately 20 miles west of Trenton and south to the shore.

TRUSTEES ELECTED

By Princeton Day Schools. Dr. Lee H. Bristol Jr. and Mrs. Barklie M. Henry have been elected trustees by the Princeton Day Schools.

Dr. Bristol is the president of Westminster Choir College and president of the Creative Education Foundation. He is also a trustee of the Princeton Public Library.

A former chairman of the board of Miss Fine's School, Mrs. Henry will rejoin the board of the day schools after a year's absence. She has been a vice-chairman of the day schools in the past.

PLANS COMPLETED

For Parenthood Benefit. Plans have been completed for the annual spring benefit of the Planned Parenthood Association. This year's production, "Gypsy," will be held Saturday, May 4.

Tickets for the performance may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Carl Reimers of University Place. Proceeds from the production will benefit the association's clinic at 202 Academy Street, Trenton.

BANQUET PLANNED

By Young Life Group. The Princeton Young Life Committee will hold a banquet Tuesday at 8 in the Nassau Inn.

The purpose of the dinner is to give the community an opportunity to learn of the activities of the Christian teenage organization. Chandler Wentworth, chairman of the committee, has announced. Invitations have been sent to the parents of Princeton High School students.

With a membership of more than 150, the club included a summer ranching program among its activities. Further information may be obtained by writing to 63 McCosh Circle.

COUPLE CELEBRATES

50th Anniversary Marked. Two life-long Princeton residents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of 106 Birch Avenue, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday. Nearly 200 relatives and friends attended the reception given by their daughters at the Masonic Temple, John Street.

Mr. Wilson, employed by Princeton Borough until his retirement three years ago, has been a trustee of First Baptist Church for many years. Mrs. Wilson is an active member of the Friendship Club.

Their daughters Mrs. Theodore Kennedy, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth Briscoe and Mrs. Bessie Christian, all of Princeton. The couple also have five grandchildren.

"They were always surrounded by children," Mrs. Kennedy says of her childhood. "The family was always together, for one thing or another. They loved family parties." She describes her mother as a "spick-and-span" housekeeper.

"We have very understanding parents. They've never been too busy to stop and help."

BENGOUGH TO SPEAK

At PBA Award Dinner. The Patrolmen's benevolent Association 130 of Princeton will hold its annual baseball award dinner Sunday at 6:30 at the Princeton Inn.

Benny Bengough, a coach for the Philadelphia Phillies, will be the speaker. A catcher for the New York Yankees for eight years, he participated in the World Series with the great Yankee teams of 1927 and 1928. He has been active in baseball since 1917 when he broke in with Buffalo.

MAKE A SNUB NOSE

By Using Origami. A demonstration of the ancient Oriental art of paper folding — Original—as it has been adapted to Western uses, will be held this Friday at the Photography and Art Center, 100 Nassau, by Mrs. Lillian Kruskal Oppenheimer. The demonstration will begin at 4 p.m. There is no admission charge.

With Shari Lewis, the TV personality, Mrs. Oppenheimer has written a book, "Folding Paper Puppets" in which the simpler aspects of Origami are illustrated. In her volume, she explains how to make snub nose fish, flapping birds, pecking chickens and other moveable toys and animals.

At her demonstration-talk this Friday, she will explain these techniques and will also describe the therapeutic uses of Origami for the mentally disturbed or physically handicapped.

"NIPSY" PLANNED

By B'nai B'rith. An original musical, "Nipsy," will be given by the B'nai B'rith Saturday, following the installation of new officers. The program begins at 9 p.m. at the Jewish Center.

Fermi Prize Non-Political.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

All the friends of Dr. Oppenheimer were pleased by your warm-hearted lines about him and by your nominating him Princeton's "Man of the Week." There are, unfortunately, two errors in your presentation, and I thought that some of your readers might be interested in the actual state of affairs.

When you say that "in 1942 he was a little-known physicist," you speak from the point of view of the non-scientist. He was, even at that time, the recognized leader in the United States in the most modern aspects of theoretical physics. He had had many students, and his name was on the lips of every physicist. As a matter of fact, it is doubtful that he would have been appointed the director of Los Alamos Laboratories, or that he could have been as successful as he was, had he been less well-known to his colleagues.

The second error in your account—an error which was, unfortunately, spread all over the country's newspapers—is that the Fermi Prize was awarded to him in order to start the procedures to restore Dr. Oppenheimer's security clearance. Much as my colleagues and I myself regret what we cannot help but believe to have been an erroneous decision of the Reviewing Board and of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, the recommendation of the General Advisory Committee to award the Fermi Prize to Oppenheimer had nothing to do with his clearance.

As a matter of fact, this would have been contrary to law, which expressly stipulates that the Award be given for contributions to the "development, control and use of atomic energy." The day (if it comes) when the Fermi Award is made for some political, rather than scientific, reason, will be almost as dark as the day when it will be given as a political reward. I am most confident that neither of these days will ever come.

EUGENE P. WIGNER
8 Ober Road

Editor's Note: TOWN TOPICS stands corrected on both counts by Eugene P. Wigner, winner of the $50,000 Enrico Fermi Award in 1958. The unfortunate adjectival choice of "little-known" was intended as a comparative, and from the point of view of the layman, or non-scientist. TOWN TOPICS agrees with Professor Wigner that it would be a dark day indeed if this highest of scientific honors were ever permitted to become a political prize and regrets that it did not define "political implications" with a greater degree of scientific precision.

Composer's Rebuttal.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In reading Mr. Hamilton's review of my recently performed symphonic work by the Princeton Symphony, he suggests that the composition's failure to please him may not wholly be the fault of the composer. He alludes to the tempo markings listed on the program as not being adequately adhered to in performance as a possible factor in contributing to his low opinion of the piece.

A reviewer has his right to state his feelings about any work of art that comes before the public, but for the record, I feel that your readers should be informed that the tempos taken at the performance were correct. Furthermore, the interpretation of my "Three Symphonic Statements" by Mr. Harsanyi and the Princeton Symphony left nothing to be desired in the way of feeling and expression. It was, in fact, one of the finest fulfillments for me personally, and I am indebted to the Princeton Symphony Board of Trustees and its fine conductor, Nicholas Harsanyi, for making the commission of the music and its splendid performance possible.

Red Hot Letters

Spring-time vandalism took a new twist here Monday when a pack of lighted matches was tossed into the U.S. mailbox at the corner of Hodge Road and Library Place.

Of the 50 to 60 letters inside, half a dozen were totally destroyed before police called to the scene could act with an extinguisher. The others were either forwarded to their destination with a note from the Princeton Post Office explaining the incident, or returned to the sender if the address had been obliterated.

Assistant Postmaster Samuel Copner investigated, commenting that whereas this form of malicious mischief occurs frequently in larger cities, it has been several years since lighted matches were last tossed into a mailbox at the corner of University and Edwards Place.

Written and directed by Mrs. Morton Lewin, the play will feature Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hymerling, Mrs. Jerry Gray, Mrs. Martin Gilwood, Mrs. Samuel Cohen, Mrs. Benjamin Zinn, Mrs. Max Bogart, Mrs. Irving Heitner and Mrs. Alexander Grasberg. Tickets are $3, obtainable from Mrs. Herbert Alexander, 108 Magnolia Lane.

The new board will be sworn in by Mrs. Alexander, installation chairman, assisted by Mrs. Herbert Housman, Council representative. Officers are Mrs. Benedict Kinsley, president; Mrs. Eli Zackhelm and Mrs. Daniel Majer, vice-presidents; Mrs. Irving Heitner, treasurer; Mrs. Martin Gilwood, recording secretary; Mrs. Max Bogart, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alvin Bonin, financial secretary, and Mrs. Albert Hoffman, social chairman.

"EPISODES, ESCAPADES" League of Voters' Topic. Miss Mary Louise Muelsen, president of the New Jersey League of Women Voters, will discuss "League Episodes and Escapades" Tuesday at the annual meeting of the Princeton group. The session is set for 8:15 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church, following a supper at 7:15.

Mrs. Ted Patlovitch and Mrs. Marvin Blumenthal are co-chairmen. The program includes a skit written and directed by Mrs. George Field and election of officers. Mrs. Arthur Dreeben is supper chairman.

Two major topics under consideration for next year are the population projection in the borough and adjacent areas as it will affect Princeton High School, and the extension of the past year's study of the Township tax base in relation to community development. Also to be considered are the issues of consolidation of Township and Borough, a joint Borough-Township recreation Commission, support of juvenile law procedures and the construction of a Route 206 by-pass.

Supper reservations may be made with Mrs. Lenderking Centeno, WA 4-3860 until Friday. Tickets are $1.50.

NAMED MERIT SCHOLARS

Scholarships Won. Carol Beth Evans and Richard L. Handelsman, Princeton High School seniors, have won four-year scholarships in the National Merit competition.

Carol Beth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Evans of 37 Jefferson Road, received a National Merit Corporation scholarship. She plans to major in mathematics and modern languages at the University of Pennsylvania.

Richard, son of Dr. and Mrs. Morris Handelsman of 27 Tyson Lane, won an RCA-sponsored Merit Scholarship. He intends to major in liberal arts at Princeton University and plans a career in English.

Both students, in addition to scholastic achievement, have been active in extracurricular activities. Carol Beth is moderator of the First Presbyterian Church Youth Council, a member of the high school choir which toured Europe last summer, a Mariner Scout, and a member of hockey, basketball and tennis teams. Richard has served on the student council, a member of the YMCA Basketball League, and of the Concert and Marching Band, Princeton Community Orchestra and the Creative Writing Club.

Richard Schoch of 159 Valley Road has been named a vice-president of Compton Advertising, Inc., New York City. He joined the firm in 1956 as a copywriter and, prior to his promotion, was assistant creative director.

Mr. Schoch, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, has served on the Township County Republican Committee for nine years, five of them as captain. He has been a trustee and officer of the Princeton Republican Club for the past several years. He is also a member of the Parish Council of Trinity Episcopal Church.

Four Princeton area students attending the College of Wooster, Wooster, O., have been named to the honor roll for the first semester. Miss Sarah A. Mather, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William B. Mather of 29 Linden Lane, was awarded high honors.

Named to the honor roll also were Miss Elizabeth Byers, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Arthur M. Byers of 249 State Road, and Miss Margaret and Miss Mary Mack, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Mack, Rocky Hill.

The appointment of nine senior members of the Princeton University faculty to the rank of professor was announced Monday by President Robert F. Goheen. The promotions are effective as of July 1.

The nine men are:

Alfred G. Fischer, Professor of Geology, who taught at three universities and gained extensive field experience as a geologist with two oil companies before joining the Princeton faculty in 1956.

David C. Hazen, Professor of Aeronautical Engineering, a member of the faculty since 1949. A graduate of Princeton in the class of 1948, he also did graduate work at the University and has received wide recognition for his research in low speed flight.

Harold W. Kuhn, Professor of Mathematical Economics, is a member of the faculty of two departments of instruction — economics and mathematics. His field of special interest is the application of mathematical techniques to economics.

Edward J. McCluskey, Jr., Professor of Electrical Engineering, an authority in the field of digital information processing systems whose research is concerned with the logical design of such systems. After teaching at M.I.T. and at City College New York, Dr. McCluskey joined the technical staff of the Bell Telephone Laboratories before joining the Princeton faculty in 1959.

Arno J. Mayer, Professor of History, was graduated from City College, New York, in 1949 and received his Ph.D. from Yale in 1954.

Before being called to Princeton in 1961, Professor Mayer was a member of the faculties of Brandeis and Harvard Universities.

Frederick W. Mote, Professor of Oriental Studies, was called to Princeton in 1956. His field of special interest is the history of Chinese literature and thought, with special reference to the period of the Ming Dynasty.

Stanley J. Stein, Professor of History, an authority on Latin American history and affairs who teaches a course which analyzes developments from India and European origins to the present, emphasizing nineteenth and twentieth century politics and economics, the growth of commercial and intellectual ties with Europe and North America, and the rise of nationalism.

Sam B. Treiman, Professor of Physics, joined the Princeton faculty in 1952 after receiving the Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago, where he also did his undergraduate work. A theoretical physicist, his area of special competence is field theory, elementary particles and cosmic rays.

Melvin M. Tumin, Professor of Sociology and Anthorpology, joined the Princeton faculty in 1947.

Professor Tumin teaches undergraduate and gradnate courses in criminology and is at present Director of the UNESCO Study of Intergroup Attitudes of Youth in England, France, and Germany.

Robert A. Madsen, son of Magnus Madsen of Route 1, is currently on a seven-month tour of duty in the Western Pacific aboard the USS Constellation. Mr. Madsen, a machinist's mate third class, is scheduled to return to port in San Diego, Calif., in September.

John R. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wilson of Alexander Road, is being reassigned to Lowry AFB, Colo., for technical training as an Air Force air armament mechanic. A graduate of Princeton High School, Mr. Wilson is a nairman basic presently stationed at Lackland AFB, Tex.

FASHION SHOW PLANNED

By Business Club. The Princeton Business and Professional Women's Club will hold a fashion show Saturday, May 4, in celebration of Princeton Borough's 150th anniversary.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 in the Princeton Inn. Reservations for the affair may be made by contacting club members and participants by Monday. A $5 donation for the club's scholarship fund is requested with each reservation.

Mrs. Marjorie Kerr will be mistress of ceremonies and Mrs. S. Glenn Ellis will be in charge of music. Fashions displayed will range from bathing suits dating from 1900 to summer dress wear and lingerie form the Mary Gill Dress Shop and Edith's Lingerie Shop.

Models include Mrs. Harry Ponisi, Mrs. Alice Burrier, Mrs. Charles Heiberger, Mrs. David York, Mrs. Anne P. Dennen, Mrs. Marion Kauffman and the Misses Allison McGilvra, Gladys Tumber, Susan Wilson, Linda Wilson, Vicky Selliez, Eileene Gialleta, Cecelia Milner, Seece Thompson, Helen Stall and Genevieve Harmon.

Assisting in the arrangements of the show are Mrs. Nina Harrison, Mrs. Hermina E. Browne, Mrs. Ethel Yeoman, Mrs. Ethel Herrick, Mrs. Jenny E. Cortese, Mrs. Josephine Konover, Mrs. Barbara Macauley, Mrs. Paula Emmons and Mrs. Polly B. Steele.

The executive board of the club will hold its monthly meeting Monday at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Helen Kraus, 42 Harris Road. A card party will follow the business meeting.

ONE-THIRD COLLECTED

In Day School Drive. The fund for the new Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart has reached more than one-third of its area goal of $1,500,000.

Russell O'Brien, chairman of the Stuart Advisory Board, announced the figure in a progress report and noted that the area drive is being accelerated to accomplish its goal. He also announced that J.F. Convery Jr. and James A. Waldron have been appointed co-chairmen of the Trenton area fund effort.

Construction of the school is now being completed on a 55-acre site just off the Great Road. Classes, from pre-school age through the tenth grade, will start in September under the Society of the Sacred Heart.

The Society, under the Rev. Moter Vicar A.M. Barry, has been selecting religious and lay teachers for the school during the past two years. The name of the headmistress will be announced later this month.

Mr. O'Brien also announced that among the recent contributions was a gift from Sir Hugh Taylor, head of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation. His donation will support the school's Raissa Maritain Library.

FUNDS PRESENTED

By Monday Club. From the proceeds of the Monday Club's sales at the home of Mrs. John W. Hicklin, 6 Greenholm, $100 has been presented to the Moses family of Dutch Neck, whose home was completely destroyed by fire; $150 to Frontier Nursing, and $250 to the Mercer County Retarded Children's Center, Trenton. In addition, the Club works for the Red Cross.

Open to men and women on a non-denominational basis, the Monday Club meets every Monday at 2 in the First Presbyterian Church. Following activities, tea, coffee and light refreshments are served. There are no dues.

WINDSOR GIVEN GRANT

For Green Acres. An 11-acre tract of woodland and open fields will become a park for West Windsor residents as the result of a "Green Acres" grant which the township has received from the state.

The conservation department will pay the township $11,500, or one-half the purchase price of the tract, under the state's $60 million "Green Acres" program. West Wind-

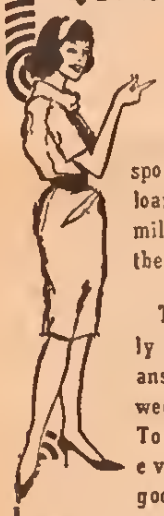
YOUR CARPET QUESTIONS



Please discuss rug cushion, sponge rubber, loam rubber, etc., mildew with either?

This was partly covered in the answer to last week's question. To go on, however, there are good sponge pads that will deteriorate. Expect to pay for a good sponge pad $1.95 a square yard. This will give good service.

The only problem with loam rubber to date, is that if something is spilled on the rug it may cause the rug to stick to the floor. This is generally used on the cheap foam back rugs. Once they have been put through the cleaning machine, they come out pretty well shredded.

I can never remember any rubber cushion mildewing.

sor must provide the other half.

The tract, owned by George Coward, is on the southeast corner of the intersection formed by the Princeton-Hightstown Road and the road that connects Clarksville and Grovers Mill. It fronts on the Hightstown Road, about one mile from Princeton Junction.

According to Malcolm Roszel, mayor of West Windsor, the land will be held in reserve for later development as a picnic grounds, playing field and trail area.

Eventually, the new park will be in the center of a built-up section because a new housing development of approximately 70 homes is scheduled to be built across the Hightstown Road, and another development farther south along the Hightstown Road. West Windsor's new school is under construction on the Clarksville Road west of the park.

On the Edinburgh Road, farther south of the new park, a developer has applied for preliminary approval of a subdivision which would involve over 100 lots. The property is that of Orville Marten.

In addition to the new park —which may not be available for public use for some time— West Windsor is working on a five acre township park on the Grovers Mill lake next to the mill. This will be used chiefly as a "winter resort" for ice-skating, but it will also have summer picnic tables.

West Windsor's planning board hopes to have ready by this spring its long-awaited Master Plan. It is expected that the date for a public hearing will be announced sometime next month.

12 NAMED CONSULTANTS

By Borough School Board. Twelve residents of Princeton Borough have been named by the Board of Education to consult with the board in the planning and development of the new elementary school.

Appointed to the Citizen's Committee: Mrs. A. A. Austen, John W. Ballantine, Mrs. J. H Barbour, Mrs. Marjorie Fischer, Edward Hofgesang, Mrs Grace Loelscher, Mrs. John Mack, Mrs. Louise Ratner, Mrs. John B. Redding, Mrs Muriel Schmidt, Dr. William Turnbull and William Webster.

In announcing formation of the committee, board president Graham Rohrer said "This representative group of interested citizens will provide a sounding board for our plans and the many details of the school which are included. We are grateful for their interest and enthusiasm."

It was stated that the committee will work independently of the previously appointed Educational Advisory Committee, although upon occasion they may meet jointly. According to Mr. Rohrer, an early meeting of the newly-named group is planned with architect Ernest Kump.

CHAIRMEN ANNOUNCED

For "Camelot" Fair. Mrs. Aubrey Huston and Mrs. Frederick Roberts, co-chairmen of the Princeton Country Day School fair, "Camelot Re-visited," have announced subcommittee assignments. The fair will be held May 11 to benefit the scholarship fund.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY IN HOUSING

Over 400 families in Princeton have expressed their concern for equal opportunity in housing by signing a statement circulated by their church or other, civic organization, similar to the one reproduced below.

We thought that you, too, would want to identify yourself with this expression of the democratic principle of the worth of each individual. Therefore we are urging you to sign this statement for fair housing practices:

> We believe that discrimination in housing opportunities is inconsistent with the principles of a free society, and that every person of good character, regardless of race, religion or national origin has the right to rent, buy or build a home which he can afford in our community.
> We will accept as a neighbor any law-abiding, responsible person moving into our own neighborhood and we will not practice racial, religious or ethnic discrimination when we are involved in a real estate transaction.

ART In Princeton

EXHIBITION AT RIVERSIDE

Permanent Collection Planned The idea behind the Riverside Art Show is unique in public elementary school education. As far as we know, this is the first elementary school in the country to establish for its children a permanent art collection.

Louis Cecchini, painter and art teacher at the Riverside and Johnson Park Schools, presented the proposal to the PTA as an "investment in the future." There was enthusiastic support from teachers and parents alike and last fall, the extra funds left over from the budget were used to commission the Philadelphia sculptor Adolph Dioda to design a work specifically for the children. The result is "Elephant," a small chunky animal, fairly abstract in feeling but still recognizable as a mastodon, made of composition stone, and irresistible for children to touch.

It is hoped that the children will become familiar with this and the future acquisitions so as to fulfill the ideal of the committee in bringing art into the daily school life. Proceeds from this week's show of works, many of them for sale between $5 and $100, will be applied to enlarging the permanent collection.

From a wide radius of Princeton, 34 artists and craftsmen have been invited to exhibit work which will cover a good variety of style and medium. Sculptors: H. Kempton Hastings, Adolph Dioda, Joe Brown (three bronzes) and Lois Haas (collection of animals and insects in welded steel). Painters (oils) Rex Gorleigh of the Canal Studio, Gregorio Prestopino, Louis Cecchini (also tapestries), Lynn Demeny, Stefan Martin; Carol Studdard, Peter Cook (portraits and Maine landscapes).

Other Media: Henry Martin, who does sketches for The New Yorker, (pen and inks); Michael Ramos ("a spoof in ink wash" and an ironical comment on gouache); Liz Dauber (brush and ink), Gerald Stern, Karl Stemer, Joseph Steffanelli (ink and crayons); Edward Schlinski (serigraphs); Robert Mueller, (linocut and color woodcut), Robert Kolliter (etchings and lithographs), Jacob Landau (watercolors and woodcuts), Gwyneth Brown (monotypes).

Queenstown Crafts will show work of the following: Mrs. Donald Blake, Mrs. Kenneth Burton, Mrs. Marline Crindle, Percy Davenport, Mrs. Frederick Ferris, Mrs. Edward Gross, Mrs. Marie Lutz, Mrs. Palmer Sharpless and Frederick Wetherill.

Demonstrations by four craftsmen: Mrs. Gladys Hoisington will demonstrate weaving on Wednesday and Friday at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Carol Studdard will do woodcuts on Friday at 8 p.m. and at the same time Mrs. Margaret Johnson will show the processes involved in monotype printing. Mrs. Peter Kunstadter will demonstrate potting techniques on Wednesday at 8 p.m. and Thursday at 3 p.m.

EXHIBIT PLANNED

By Jaycees in June. Saturday and Sunday, June 15 and 16 are the dates set by the Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce for its fourth annual art exhibition. Thomas C. Jamieson, Jr., Jaycee vice-president, is chairman of the program.

Artists and art groups from Princeton and surrounding communities will be asked to submit works to the exhibition. Additional details will be given at a later date.

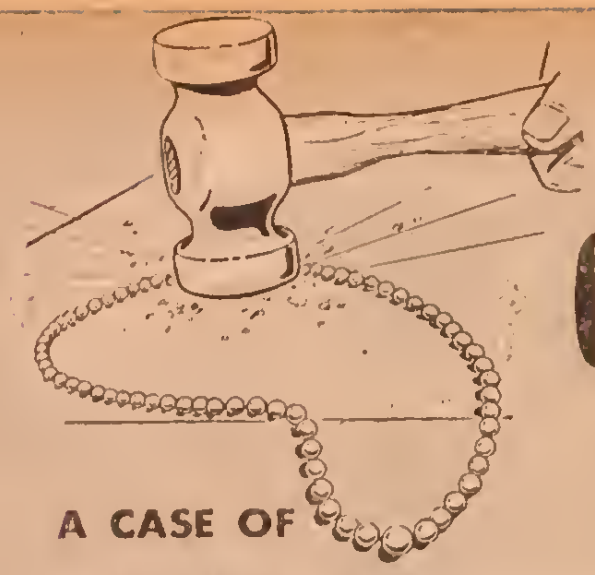
Misunderstanding Christ on Obedience



A CASE OF "CRUSHING PEARLS"

The Christian is not saved because of his good deeds. He is saved by the grace of God and the shed blood of Jesus Christ. Yet, obedience is essential.

Jesus called for obedience from his disciples when he said:

"Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven: but he that doeth the will of my Father who is in heaven" (Matthew 7:21).

"If ye abide in my word, then are ye truly my disciples" (John 8:31).

"If ye love me, ye will keep my commandments" (John 14:15).

These passages from the New Testament teach plainly that our obedience to the teachings of Christ is an expression of our love, fidelity and devotion to him. Just as obedient children of God glorify the Father in heaven.

The apostle John writes: "For this is the love of God that we keep his commandments: and his commandments are not grievous" (1 John 5:3). This is fundamental to our understanding the relationship of obedience to salvation.

All of the commands enjoined upon the children of God by a loving, heavenly Father are not grievous; they are not the edicts of a harsh taskmaster; they are not designed to make our way harder but easier; they are not intended to discourage but to encourage.

If we think of God's commandments only to test our loyalty, we have missed the point. Such a view distorts the Bible conception of God as a loving Father. Misunderstanding Christ on obedience is another case of "crushing pearls" – a description given by Jesus to those incapable of discerning certain spiritual truths (Matthew 7:6). We "crush pearls" when we think of obedience purely as a test of our faith.

Look at it this way. We sometimes require our children to take bad-tasting medicine – not to prove their loyalty to us but in order that they might be blessed. The fact, however, that small children cannot see the relationship between the bad-tasting medicine and the blessing it is intended to bring does not mean the medicine is unimportant.

Or, we may forbid our children from playing in the street – not because we look upon their obedience to this command primarily as a measure of their loyalty to us, but in order that their young lives might not be needlessly endangered by traffic. This is another case of a command resulting in a blessing. Still, in many cases, the child cannot always see or understand the blessing.

A great need for Christian people today is for all to accept without reservation this Bible principle: In every command of God there is a blessing for those who will obey whether we see it or not, or whether we realize it immediately or not.

"For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments: and his commandments are not grievous" (1 John 5:3).

GOING BACK in Town Topics

FIVE YEARS AGO

TOWN TOPICS, April 24, 1958: As news of the nation's 1958 recession continued to dominate the headlines, Princetonians continued to thank their lucky stars that they weren't a part of the economic crisis. A clinical report on the town's business health showed that Princeton had been only slightly affected by the downturn so evident in other communities.

As one druggist had put it the previous week: "This is the busiest recession I've ever been through."

Princeton Township's Board of Education announced plans for two new elementary school buildings, to be known as the Johnson Park and Riverside schools, and asked for authorization for a $1,145,000 bond sale to finance construction. Two weeks later, the request was approved by a two-to-one margin by Township voters in "the most significant educational referendum in a long time" in the Princeton area.

Signalling the approach of Daylight Saving Time, TOWN TOPICS observed lyrically:

We'll lose an hour,
One and all,
From Mory's Pub
To Nassau Hall,
But who will miss it—
Care—or bawl?
We'll get it back
Come early fall.

TEN YEARS AGO

TOWN TOPICS, April 23, 1953: The addition to Princeton Hospital of a third floor had just been completed, increasing bed capacity from 89 to 138. (By the end of 1962 the number had increased to 176. As the area population grows, so must the hospital serving it.)

During the rearrangement of hospital facilities necessitated by the expansion, the operating room was dismantled and reinstalled elsewhere in the building within a period of four hours. Operations could be briefly postponed, nature could not; during the eight-hour period while the maternity department was being transferred, seven babies were born. "All of them," TOWN TOPICS concluded, reportedly are ambulatory patients."

Princeton High School's newspaper, "The Tower," had been selected as the best among 28 school papers in the state entered in a contest at Upsala College.

Briskly competing for honors with their journalistic colleagues were members of the school's dramatic group, already in rehearsal as the country's first high school organization to produce the Broadway musical success, "Carousel." The ambitious production was being undertaken with special permission of authors Rodgers and Hammerstein.

FASHION AT APRIL ANNUAL: A Herbert Sondheim dress will be modeled by Mrs. Frederick Peterson, Glenmoore Farm, Hopewell, at the April Annual fashion show and bazaar. The Association of the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute is sponsor of the event, to be held Tuesday from 11 to 3 at Smalley Hall at the Institute in Skillman. Reservations may be made by calling WA 4-2040.

Meanwhile, The Garden was showing the screen version of the Irving Berlin-Lindsay and Crouse musical, "Call Me Madam." TOWN TOPICS' reviewer observed: "Ethel Merman hasn't changed much since she was here two weeks ago at the Playhouse in the same show."

In April 1953, the Nassau Inn, judging from its advertisement, was still trying to settle on a name for itself. Variously known during the 18th and 19th centuries as The Sign of the College, the College Inn, the Nassau Hotel, and the Nassau Inn, it became the Nassau Tavern when it moved in 1937 to Palmer Square.

By 1953, however, the word "tavern" had become debased as a nice-Nellyism for "saloon", in itself an early ameliorative for the corner gin-mill. So the establishment had then assumed the clumsy title of the "Nassau Tavern Hotel."

Not until the late 1950's did sweet reason prevail and the place once again became officially the Nassau Inn. Meanwhile, through most of these years and name-changes, to generations of Princetonians it was, had been, and always would be simply "the Nass."

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

TOWN TOPICS, April 22, 1948: From the broad steps leading to Blair Arch on the campus, "the most talked of man in the United States" (and later that year one of the most unelected Presidential candidates in the United States as Truman edged Dewey) Harold Stassen spoke to several thousand admirers.

Non sequitur enticement: A dealer in distilled spirits advertised in the 1948 issue: "THINKING OF SPRING? You can choose from 15 fine brands of bourbons and 30 different brands of imported Scotch."

MEMENTOS PRESENTED

To Local Guard Unit. Mrs Charles J. Skillman, 40 North Tulare Street, presented her late husband's military mementos to Lt. John L. DeMatteo and Sgt. Robert Schuler at a ceremony held by the Princeton unit of the National Guard. Mr. Skillman had collected most of the unit's awards from 1905 to 1917 when he served as a sergeant of the organization.

Using Mrs Skillman's donation as a basis, a collection of archives will be established at the armory on River Road to illustrate past and present achievements of the unit.

$6,389 RECEIVED

In Easter Seal Appeal. Gifts totalling $6,389 have been received in the Mercer County Easter Seal Appeal. J. Fred Fisher, vice-president of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company and chairman of the drive, announced that the figure exceeds last year's response of $4,160 at this time by 51 percent.

Mr. Fisher said that additional contributions are expected. He expressed his thanks to the community for the proceeds which will benefit crippled children and adults. This year's receipts have already exceeded by 11 percent mail receipts of $5,773 for the entire year of 1962.

DEAR TRAVELERS:

How bout cruising down the river on the DELTA QUEEN? She's a stern-wheeler steamboat just like the ones they had in "olden" days.

All the cruises leave from Cincinnati, Ohio. The 20-day trip goes down the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers to New Orleans; The 10-day cruise goes meandering down the Ohio and the majestic Mississippi to Tiptonville and Reelfood Lake. You'll see Cave-In-Rock, Illinois — the headquaters of 19th century river pirates who preyed on small, commercial cargo boates. Another 10-day cruise drifts gently down the Ohio and Kanawha Rivers to Pittsburg. There is a 14-day trip on the Ohio and Tennessee Rivers and five of the "Great Lakes of the South" to Chattanooga, Tennessee. Or how about a 7-dayday ride on the Ohio and Tennessee Rivers to Kentucky Lake? And best of all, we think, the 20-day cruise to St. Paul Minnesota on the Ohio and Upper Mississippi Rivers where you'll see Mark Twain's home in Hannibal, Mo. and the lovely Minehaha Falls.

All ahoard! for a trip you'll never forget down the main highways of the nation our forefathers knew!

As ever
Nancy

MUSIC In Princeton

BRUBECK SCORES AGAIN In McCarter SRO Hit. Last Saturday evening at McCarter Theatre, Dave Brubeck's quartet presented a concert of classico-modern music to an audience which filled the auditorium to its capacity plus. In addition to taking every seat in the hall, listeners were standing two-deep in the back of the theatre and about 100 more were seated on chairs at the back of the stage.

A few enterprising and determined people even converted the spotlight booth up high at the back of the auditorium into an impromptu box. The large crowd was justifiably delighted by what they heard.

Brubeck's quartet has been playing as a unit since 1951, a long time for any small musical group to stay together but a virtually unparalled time for a so-called "jazz" group to exist. Yet, as was clearly demonstrated at McCarter, the organization still bubbles with freshness and excitement, exhibiting an incredible cohesion among four sympathetic musicians of extraordinary skill.

The important reason behind their continued musical success is the fact that each performance is a wholly-shaped work of art which is achieved by teamwork of a kind that is almost without equal in the field of music. The problem of unity is resolved because the quartet utilizes improvisation to a degree unknown to any other jazz group.

Musical Experimentation. The McCarter Theatre concert by Brubeck and his exceptional colleagues showed vividly and impressively their achievements in the use of counterpoint, polytonality and polyrhythms with which they continue to experiment and to serve as a pioneering source of inspiration for many of the current and future trends in jazz.

Mr. Brubeck's quartet presented a repertoire which fully displayed the versatility and musicianship of its members. As he has said, "The quartet is an integrated instrument consisting of four soloists, each of whom is a performer-composer in his own right."

The music, therefore was a delightful melange of the emotional and the cerebral, sometimes hard-driving, sometimes lightly but always urgently rhythmic, humorous or profound, depending on the prevailing tempi and on the interpretation of each soloist.

Despite the obvious adulation of the large audience and the years of success which the quartet has earned, Saturday evening's concert was presented in a disarmingly unpretentious way.

One had the privileged feeling of taking part in a musically conversational kind of evening — highly intelligent conversation generously laced with harmonious repartee. The four musicians are beautifully matched, each one complementing and implementing the solo performances of the others in an intime, easy manner.

Brubeck Highly Talented. The mood for each selection was set, of course, by Mr. Brubeck, whose technique and inventiveness at the piano clearly showed that he is a highly talented composer and improvisationist of tremendous resources. Paul Desmond, alto saxophonist, showed many people for the first time that the instrument, frequently considered to be the most unfortunate in the modern history of music, was fully capable of beautiful tonality and texture, completely opposite to the frightful bleatings usually associated with and heard from that particular horn.

Drummer Joe Morello displayed his amazing virtuosity in achieving selectivity of note as well as subtle variations in rhythm instead of the monolonous 4/4 vroom-boom-bash-bang of most drum players. And bassist Gene Wright did much to enhance the easy, talkative tone of the group. The instrument, at his hands, sounded pleasantly like the anecdotal recitative of a skilled raconteur.

While top credit for the quartet's high quality of performance obviously goes to its organizer and leader, Mr Brubeck, virtually equal credit for the concert's success is also due to the superb abilities of the other members of the group.

SWING WITH BASIE

Coming May 5 to McCarter. Count Basie and his 15-piece orchestra will be in McCarter Theatre Sunday afternoon, May 5, at 3, for a jazz concert. The Count, cited as "the most explosive force in jazz today," led his first band in 1935.

More recently, he was invited to play at President Kennedy's inaugural ball, an appearance he treasures highly. Basie's easy piano style continues to be backed by a strong rhythm section, for the "special" sound that has insured the group's popularity.

COUNT BASIE: A jazz concert by Count Basie and his orchestra will be given on Sunday, May 5, at 3 in McCarter Carter

Among Count Basie's many honors was first place in the readers' poll of Le Jazz Hot, France's leading jazz magazine. Tickets are available at the McCarter box office.

RUSSELL TO PLAY BACH In Organ Recital. Carlton Russell will give an organ recital of Bach and Mozart next Wednesday, May 1, in the University Chapel. There will be no admission charge to the recital, to be presented by the Friends of Music at 8:30.

The program will include Bach's Prelude and Fugue in A Minor, Four Chorale Preludes, the Trio Sonata No. 1 and the Prelude and Fugue in E Minor, and Mozart's Adagio and Allegro.

Mr. Russell has been an assistant in instruction in the music department and assistant to Carl Weinrich, organist and choir master of the University Chapel since 1961. He received his MFA degree from Princeton and is currently writing his Ph.D dissertation on the Gregorian Chant under the direction of of Prof. Oliver Strunk.

He graduated magna cum laude from Amherst College in 1960 where he majored in music and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He received a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship in music history at Princeton for 1960-61. This fall he will be organist and instructor in music at Wheaton College.

IN CHAPEL RECITAL: Carlton Russell will play organ works by Bach and Mozart next Wednesday at 8:30 in the University Chapel.

REALE, MORRIS TO PLAY With University Group. The Princeton University Orchestra will give its final concert of the season Sunday afternoon at 3:30 under the auspices of the Friends of Music at Princeton. It will be held in Alexander Hall, and there will be no admission charge.

The soloists will be Vincent Reale, '63 violin, and Thomas Morris, '65, percussion. A stu-

Obituaries

The Rev. Robert R. Wicks, 80, died April 20 in the Exeter (N.H.) Hospital. He was dean of Princeton University Chapel for 20 years.

The Rev. Mr. Wicks, born in Utica, N.Y., was a graduate of Hamilton College and Union Theological Seminary. Formerly school minister of Phillips Exeter Academy, he served parishes in East Orange and Holyoke, Mass., before becoming dean of the Princeton University Chapel in 1928.

After his retirement, he served as dean of the chapel at Hamilton College; head of the religious department of the Lawrenceville School and as interim pastor of the Congregational Church in Exeter. He was appointed to the Exeter faculty in 1956.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Eleanor MacMaster Hall Wicks; three sons, Alden of New Hope; David of Milton, Mass., and Robert S. Wicks of the Lawrenceville School.

Memorial services were held at the Phillips Church, conducted by the Rev. Frederick Buechner, Exeter's school minister and a former student of the Rev. Mr. Wicks.

A memorial service will be held at 3 p.m. this Friday in the Princeton University Chapel.

Steven J. Nelson, 21-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nils Nelson of 16 Princeton Avenue, Hopewell, died April 21 in Princeton Hospital.

Also surviving are his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Guido Carnivale of Princeton, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Nils Nelson of Neshanic.

The funeral was held in his parents' home, with interment in St. Alphonsus Cemetery, Hopewell.

Rocco Balestrieri of the Bronx, New York, formerly of Princeton, died suddenly on April 20. He was the husband of Mary Barone Balestrieri.

Also surviving are five children, Lucile, Kenneth, Rocco, Rosemary and William, all of the Bronx, and four sisters, Mrs. Lawrence Armonia, Mrs. Charles Consoli and Mrs. Anthony Pisani, all of Princeton, and Mrs. Lee Cefaloni of Trenton. The funeral was held at the Boyertown Chapel in the Bronx.

Mrs. Anna M. Weidl, 79, died April 17 at her home on Hollow Road, Skillman. Born in Austria-Hungary, she lived in Skillman for 50 years.

Surviving are six sons, Hans, Julius and William of Skillman, Carl and Ernest of Hopewell and Henry of Polk City, Fla.; two daughters, Mrs. Anna Morrocco of Skillman and Mrs. Mary Gutsel of Rockford, Ill., and seven grandchildren.

The service and interment were private.

Raymond Scheneck, 79, of Ridge Road, Monmouth Junction, died April 19. A retired Monmouth Junction, a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Raduzycki of Monmouth Junction; a sister, Mrs. David Griggs of Cranbury; 14 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held in Kingston Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Clarence Brixey, pastor, officiating. Interment was in Kingston Cemetery.

Camillo Pirone, 65, of 41 Henry Avenue, died April 19 in Princeton Hospital.

Born in Italy, he had lived in Princeton for 46 years. He was employed by the department of buildings and grounds at Princeton University for 20 years.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Angiolina Pirone; a son, Vincenzo of Princeton; a daughter, Mrs. Faelina Perna of Princeton, two sisters, Mrs. Albernia Tamasi of Princeton and Mrs. Battina Pinelli of Italy, and five grandchildren.

Solemn requiem mass was celebrated Monday at St. Paul's Church. Interment was in the parish cemetery, under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

John F. Hoffman, 38, of 55 Dublin Road, Pennington, died April 22 in Helene Fuld Hospital, Trenton. Born in Hopewell Township, he was a lifelong resident of this area.

Mr. Hoffman, a foreman at Cointreau, Ltd., for 15 years, was a member of the Pennington Fire Company and the Pennington First Aid Rescue Squad. He was an army veteran of World War II.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Julia M. Hoffman; three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Winkler and Mrs. Katherine Kamrad of Pennington and Mrs. Marie Harding of Jersey City; a brother, Henry P. Hoffman, and several nieces and nephews.

The funeral service was held in Pennington, followed by requiem high mass in St. James Roman Catholic Church. Interment was in Our Lady of Lourdes Cemetery, Trenton.

Mrs. Mary H. VanDyke, 75, of 124 North Main Street, Cranbury, died April 21 at Princeton Hospital. She was the widow of Dr. Benjamin S. VanDyke.

The funeral was held at her home, the Rev. Earl Bowen of the Methodist Church officiating. Interment was in Westminster Cemetery under direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

Gabriel J. Kast, 69, of 134 Centre Street, Hightstown, died April 21 in Princeton Hospital.

Born in Russia, Mr. Kast was a retired baker and lived in this area for 25 years.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Cecilia B. Kast, two sons, Harry of Hightstown and Arnold of Phoenix, Ariz., a sister, Miss Ameilia Kast of New York City, and two brothers in Russia.

The service was held in Hightstown, the Rev. Robert S. Turton of the Gospel Mission Church, officiating. Interment was in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

SPORTS In Princeton

REGATTA HERE SATURDAY

Childs Cup at Stake. The oldest trophy in intercollegiate rowing will be the prize Saturday when the crews of Columbia, Pennsylvania and Princeton race on Lake Carnegie. Expectations are that the five-year stay the cup has had in Philadelphia through Penn's domination of the rivalry since 1957 will be ended by either a Columbia or a Princeton victory.

Adding color to the occasion will be the presence on Lake Carnegie of the Ratzeburg crew from Germany, Olympic champions in 1960. The visitors will be an added starter in the mile and three-quarter event, although naturally ineligible for the cup.

The German boat has a reputation for rowing at an unusually high stroke (often as much as 37) during the greater part of every race it enters. The average age of the oarsmen is around 24 or 25, but the coxswain is a mere lad of 14.

Four races are on the afternoon's program, with the second freshmen scheduled to row at 4 p.m. The freshmen, junior varsity and varsity shells will then go to the stake boats at 15-minute intervals, setting the climactic event for 5 p.m.

Columbia Impressive. A two-length victory over Navy earlier this season has given Columbia hopes of winning the childs Cup for the first time since 1940. The Lions figure to give Princeton its stiffest competition, with Penn, co-champion in the Eastern Sprints with Yale last season, hard hit by graduation.

Dutch Schoch's big crew matched Columbia's victory over Navy last week when it led the midshipmen across the line at Carnegie by a length and a quarter. It was a ding-dong affair for the first mile, but Princeton balance asserted itself in the stretch and a good drive over the final 500 yards gave the Tigers their second straight success over the midshipmen. Their time was 9:17.4. Orange and Black-tipped oars also won the freshman race, as well as the 150-lb. event, in which Rutgers also rowed.

RACE TRANSPLANTED

As Yale Defeats Rutgers. The strong winds Saturday made rowing on the Raritan River at New Brunswick impossible, and the scheduled race between Yale and Rutgers was switched to Lake Carnegie. Dusk had virtually fallen by the time the Elis led the way across the finish line by two lengths.

Yale's mark was 9:12.8 for a mile and three-quarters, giving Princeton cause for optimism on a comparative time basis. Conditions for the Yale-Rutgers race were visibly smoother than when the Tigers defeated Navy.

TIGHT RACE LOOMS

In Eastern League. Eyeing its first role as a contender in the Eastern League in a decade, Princeton's baseball team can count on the likelihood that none of the nine other entries appears to have the pitching depth to dominate the race. The light scheduling is such that two good starting pitchers are virtually essential to compile a 7-2 or 8-1 mark, and no team the Tigers will face appears to be that well staffed.

Last week, for example, Columbia turned back Harvard, 4-2, in a tightly-played game Friday, only to be blasted the following day by Dartmouth, 23 to 9. Penn had handled the Indians on Friday by a 3-2 count, but was clipped for nine runs the next day by Cornell. A six-run rally in the last of the ninth won for the Quakers, however, and next Tuesday's game on Clarke Field against Penn will be a big one for Princeton.

NYU Wins in Ninth, 3 to 2. Making almost as many errors (four) at it did hits (five), the ball team lost Monday to New York University. A ninth-inning run produced by a triple and a squeeze bunt gave the visitors the edge after Princeton put the first two men aboard in its half of the round but could not score.

Paul Lahti and sophomore Steve Depperman shared the pitching duties, the latter making his first appearance and picking up his first defeat. Bill Bradley, who also plays basketball, broke into the starting lineup at first and got the Tigers their first run.

He was hit by a pitch, went to third on an error and came home on a wild pitch. Princeton bunched three hits in the eighth to pull even but could not hold on for long.

The Tigers travel to Ithaca Saturday to face Cornell in their fourth league game of the season. Thereafter, they meet Penn and Harvard at home, finishing the pennant chase with road games at Annapolis, New Haven and Hanover.

Their second victory in the league was recorded here Friday against Brown in a well-played game that required only an hour and 40 minutes to complete. Southpaw Gerry Skey was the victor, scattering

PETE COOK
Hockey Coach

Pete Cook, who has coached Princeton freshman hockey teams for the past eight years, has been replaced as of next season. His successor is Mike Karin, who has been a sporting goods salesman since he played hockey at Middlebury from 1956-59.

To Cook at least goes the distinction of being one of the few coaches on record who was derricked despite the fact that he had a winning average of .683 and was immensely popular with the kids he taught. Yet it's a fact that his successor's contract was signed, sealed and delivered before he knew a thing about it.

A .683 average is rarely exceeded by many percentage points in any sport, but it gains added stature when the sport is freshman hockey at Princeton. More often than not, Cook had a season-long assignment of making bricks without straw — hockey material in quantity never comes to Princeton.

One year, his squad of 22 did not include a single player with goalie experience; he rarely had top talent and he never had depth. Yet despite the constant deficiencies experienced by a "southern" college in the hockey-playing belt, he had only two losing seasons. Whether his teams won or not, his players thought the world of him and they got topflight coaching.

In 1960, when he had players like Billy Hill, Brit Mockridge, Dave Hersey and his son John, he rolled up an 11-2 record. This year, better than average material made another 11-2 season possible, including victories over first-year teams at Yale, Cornell, Army and Dartmouth.

Actually, Cook cared far less about winning than he did about getting a tougher schedule for his teams to prepare them better for varsity careers. The budget, however, wouldn't stretch to make this possible.

Norm Wood, the varsity coach, is quoted in the announcement as welcoming Karin's appointment "as a step toward a better hockey program at Princeton."

You don't improve hockey anywhere, particularly at Princeton where it is in such a sorry state of affairs, by shucking off a guy like Pete Cook.

seven hits as he hurled a 2-0 triumph.

Skey regained the control he was lacking the week before when Army drove him from the box with a nine-hit barrage in less than five innings. Against Brown, no runner reached third until the ninth, and then only as a result of the Tigers' lone error.

Singles by Blake Stafford, Don Weeden and Jody Johnson gave Princeton the only run it needed in the sixth. An insurance marker was added in the eighth when Captain Don Fudge's fly to right was misjudged into a tripple and he came home on a faulty relay.

LACROSSE TEAM LOSES

To Army, 10 to 7. Ahead three times on the windswept plains of West Point, Princeton's lacrosse team suffered a second-half relapse and lost to Army Saturday, 10 to 7. The Tigers will be at home on Campbell Field this Saturday at 2:30 to face the Philadelphia Lacrosse Club before launching defense of their Ivy title at Penn on Wednesday.

Bryce Chase, Princeton High School alumnus, and Carl Wille, a pair of midfielders for Princeton, each scored twice, but a six-goal third period for the cadets proved decisive. Princeton led during most of the first half, enjoying a 3-2 advantage at the intermission, but Army's depth — as Navy's had the week before — turned the tide against the Tigers as play progressed.

OTHER SPORTS

Tigers Lose in Track. The steady upswing Rutgers is experiencing in athletics was reflected in track last weekend when the Scarlet recorded its victory in the sport over Princeton. The score of the meet at New Brunswick was a surprising 78 2/3 to 67 1/3.

John Conroy's tennis team won its fourth in a row without defeat, blanking Brown, 9 to 0. It was Princeton's 26th consecutive victory in the sport since the spring of 1961.

The golfers won a triangular match from Navy and Brown, turning back the midshipmen, 5-2, and the Bruins, 6-1.

PHS DROPS TO .500

Stemmle Hurls One-Hitter. The Princeton High School baseball team played three games last week, lost two, and dropped to the .500 mark. Sandwiched in between those two defeats however, was a sparkling one-hitter by Tom Stemmle.

Stemmle's performance deserves to be underlined for it represents a complete turnabout for the senior southpaw. Last season, lack of control prevented Stemmle from being an effective pitcher. According to coach Harvy Zoll, Tom had speed and determination but little else.

But look what's happened this spring. Friday's 5-0 victory over Franklin was Tom's second straight win without a defeat and his second straight shutout. In 14 innings, he has yielded just four hits and issued only two walks. He owns two of the Little Tigers' three victories.

"Stemmle keeps the ball low. He doesn't give the batters a good pitch to swing at," said Zoll. "He's a good control pitcher."

THIS Is Next. Stemmle will need all the control he can command in his next start. On the strength of his fine showing, Zoll has named him to pitch against Trenton High School this Thursday. THE game of the season for the Little Tigers. This year's contest between the ancient rivals will be played at Harris Field, starting at 3:30.

Though unavoidable, a factor that may militate against any PHS success on Thursday is fatigue. All senior members will have returned the day before from a three-day class trip to Washington. Asked if this would have any bearing on the outcome of the game, Zoll replied, "They have their orders; it's up to them."

Nor will the Blue and White get a chance to rest. The following day it will meet Nortre Dame High school in the first contest between the two schools. The first game of what should develop into a natural rivalry will be played at the Notre Dame diamond. Game time is set for 3:30.

Still another "first" is scheduled here Tuesday, again at 3.30. At that time, PHS will

The exact model Plymouth that beat Chevrolet and Ford can be in your driveway tomorrow.

A customer walked into a Plymouth dealership the other day and asked where he could get a Fury just like the one that beat Chevrolet and Ford in 8 out of 10 tests at Riverside. The Plymouth salesman grinned broadly and said, "Mister, you're leaning on one!" The point is, the exact model Plymouth that performed so well at Riverside—winning every acceleration test, the handling test, both passing-safety tests, and the gas economy test—is performing just as well for thousands of new Plymouth owners every day. (There's probably one sitting in your Plymouth Dealer's showroom this minute, with a 5-year/50,000-mile warranty* in the glove box.) See and drive the 1963 Plymouth!

At Plymouth's request, Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute purchased the test cars—a 1963 Chevrolet Impala V-8, Ford Galaxie "500" V-8, and Plymouth Fury V-8. They conducted every test and computed all results. See your Plymouth Dealer for illustrated Official Results Booklet.

oppose newcomer Cathedral High School. Since any win over a Trenton area school is doubly sweet to Princeton, the Little Tigers face a crucial week.

In less time than it would care to think about, PHS slipped from the role of hero to that of goat. From the one-hit, errorless game against Franklin, it committed a horrendous 11 errors against Lawrenceville School the next day. In that one game it was charged with more misplays than it had compiled in its previous five starts. Lawrenceville won 6-5.

The protagonist in this comedy of errors was the pitcher, Jack Rosso. By any standard, he had a bad day. He hit two batters, made a wild pitch and committed four errors. And, like the central figure in a Greek tragedy, he, for the second time this year, was the author of his own downfall.

Fifth Inning Decides. Rosso's downfall occurred in the fifth when Lawrenceville scored twice, the second run proving to be the margin of victory. To start it off, Rosso hit the first batter, Tom Sculcrati, PHS third baseman, followed with an error. Both runners advancing.

Rosso then uncorked a wild pitch. As he raced in to take the throw at the plate from catcher Paul Walstad, Rosso saw it was too late to prevent the runner on third from scoring. Then, in an attempt to get the runner sliding into third, Rosso threw it way over third baseman's head.

Dan Corvino pitched the next 1 and 1/3 innings and Ben Herman finished up. For the dejected Rosso it was his third loss. "Jack should be 3-1, instead of 1-3," said the disappointed Zoll. In Princeton's second outing against Ewing, Rosso threw wild attempting to pick off a runner at third, permitting the winning run to go home.

The losers outhit the Larries 10-4. In fact, not one of Lawrenceville's six runs was earned. It scored three runs in the second on a pair of errors by Rosso, a hit batter, an error by first baseman Jim Case and a single. In the fifth it tallied a lone run on an error by shortstop Ken Ward, a throwing error by Rosso and a single.

As it was, the Larries had to struggle to win their first game of the season. PHS scored twice in the fourth on Dave Muni's single, a walk, a passed ball and Ken Ward's single. Captain Ray Britton and Muni each rapped out three hits for the Little Tigers.

"It was a question of errors and mental lapses," said Zoll. "It was just one of those things. I hope they've gotten it out of their system." In exclamation of most of the players, it should be noted that a brisk wind made fly balls difficult to judge. At least four PHS errors were chrged to outfielders who were victims of the high winds.

Earlier in the week, Princeton dropped a 5-0 decision to unbeaten Bordentown Military Institute. Catcher Paul Walstad and Ray Britton garnered the two hits given up by BMI's pitcher, Steve Fritts. It was the only game of the season in which PHS was not in contention until the final out.

PHS TRACKMEN LOSE, 97-20

Penn Relays Ahead. Princeton Hiigh expeced to lose its dual meet with New Brunswick last Wednesday. It was not disappointed. The visiting Owls crushed PHS,97-20, capturing first place in every event except the javelin.

The defeat was Princeton's second in three dual meets and its second in a row. Fortunately, its next opponent, Cathedral, is not in the same class as New Brunswick. A new school, Cathedral will be the underdog for the meet which will be held here Thursday afternoon at 3 30.

On Saturday, the annual Penn Relays will be held at Philadelphia. PHS coach Jerry Goninger reported that he is planning to enter a mile relay team. As in the past, the Little Tigers will be competing against teams form schools of similiar size and against teams that have posted similiar times in the event.

Groninger added that he has not yet decded who will run in the event for PHS, although he did name three who would probably compete. They are Bruce Baxter, Art Brooks and John Kowalski. A fourth will be chosen from among Tom Reynolds, Jim Norris or possibly some other boy. Each will run a quarter-mile.

"They really clobbered us" was Groninger's comment on the New Brunswick rout. The lone PHS island in the New Brunswick tide was the javelin which PHS swept. Pete Webber won it with a toss of 176 feet. Co-captain Jack Kelley and Jim Beachell captured second and third place. Webber's feat was even more amazing in the light that it marked the first time he had competed in the event.

Bill Aiken tied for first place in the pole vault and Hank Schmidt placed second in the mile event. Jim McKeever and Al Spencer finished third in the shot and discus to account for Princeton's other points.

SEASON STARTED

By Lacrosse Club. The newly-formed Princeton Lacrosse Club has begun competition auspiciously, winning three of four contests. Comprised of students from Princeton High School, the team has competed at the scrimmage level, though under game conditions.

In its most recent victory, the club defeated Fair Lawn High, 6-1, last week. Pete Smith paced the attack with three goals. Other scores were accounted for by Barry Sullivan, Matt Nicoll and Sam Stewart.

Earlier, Sullivan led the team to a 3-2 win over the Lawrenceville J.V. Sullivan scored the first two goals with defenseman Jay Davidson tallying the game-winning marker.

The club has also defeated the Hun J.V., while losing to Montclair High in the season opener. With 30 seconds left in overtime, Montclair scored for a 4-3 victory.

Others participating in the club's games were Mark Soldavin, Warren Elmer, Nat Thompson, Rich Stewart, Bill Gaman, Bruce Graham, Doug Stevens, Russ West, Peter Bol, Spenser Williard, Mike Hawk and John Zier.

HUN NINE STARTS FAST

Wins First Two Easily. Despite four errors, the Hun School baseball team won its second game in as many starts here Saturday, defeating George School, 9-5. Scott Page was the winning pitcher.

The decisive blows for Hun were a three-run homer by Princeton's Guy Wirsig and a two-run homer by Page. Catcher Herman Penner's triple was among the nine hits collected by Hun off George School pitching.

Page gave up just one hit in the six innings he worked but that was a two-run homer. Four of the losers' five runs were unearned.

In its opener last Wednesday, Hun topped visiting

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think the suspension of Paul Hornung and Alex Karras for betting on games was too severe or not?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Bruce Perone, Skillman, plant superintendent for Nassau Oil: No, I think they got what they deserved. There shouldn't be gambling of any kind because pro football is a clean sport. Any association with gamblers would ruin it. If players gamble, even if they bet on their own team, they should all be suspended.

Jack MacDonough, Trenton, installation foreman for pump company: I think it doesn't hurt if they gamble on their own team. I feel it would only make them play harder to win. I think the penalty was a little stiff. Fine them like the other players but don't throw them out of the game. That's their living.

Edgar Biddick, 114 Witherspoon Street, laborer: Yes, I think they should have gotten a fine and been suspended for three or four months but not for a whole year. Hornung and Karras are crowd-pleasers — that's who the people come to see play. I don't see anything wrong with betting on your own team as long as it is kept to a minimum. Something petty, not over $50.

Daniel Tamasi, 33 Henry Avenue, postal carrier: Certainly it was too severe. He didn't do it for a bribe. It was his own bet. What's wrong with that? He wasn't being paid to throw a game.

Jack O'Connell, 30 Mercer Street, painter: I feel it was a just penalty. Let's keep the sport clean. We don't want it to become like basketball. I'm sorry it was Hornung — and surprised. But not too sorry, being a Giant fan!

Dick Cooper, Hamilton Township, laborer: Yes, I do. Why not do to all of those who got caught what they did to Hornung and Karras? The others just got fined for betting. I think every player in the league bets but they don't get caught. I don't see anything wrong with it. If you think your team is going to win, why not put a $50 to $100 bet on it. After all, the sport is still there. It doesn't mean the gamblers have taken over.

John Becker, 1901 Hall, Princeton University senior: Yes, I think it was just, since it is in the players' contract not to bet. I think it would deter other players from betting or else they should change the rules.

Fred Cavanaugh, 254 Nassau Street, salesman: I feel if a guy bets on his team, he has faith in his team. A little friendly bet never hurt anyone. And they never bet big money. If he has enough confidence in himself and in his teammates, what's wrong with betting? He's not going to lie down and lose. I think what they should have done was give them a warning along with a stiff fine.

John C. Wood, Trenton, campus policeman for Princeton University: No, I don't. I was in sports myself and I don't think anything like that should go on. It is bad for the sport. It doesn't matter how little they bet or if they bet on themselves, they shouldn't be doing it.

Michael Cirullo, 28 Humbert Street, construction worker: Yes, I think it was fair; I think they should have been suspended for life. I look at it this way: it degrades the sport in the eyes of the spectators when a player bets on his own team to win and I think this is one of the main reasons why a sport will go out just as hoxind did. When a player bets on himself to win, it could be a cover up. He might be getting paid off by gamblers to shave the score but by betting on himself, it makes him look good to the public. Instead of winning by three touchdowns, you win by two, instead of beating a team by 30 points you beat them by 20, or instead of knocking a guy out in the second round, you knock him out in the seventh. In other words, you win but you win within the point spread set up by the gamblers. And once you know the point spread you might just this once bet $1000 instead of $10 on your team. I don't think betting is good for sports. Once the public becomes aware the players are betting on games, they'll lose confidence in it.

Hege Woolwine, 242½ Nassau Street, owner of Nassau Hobby Shop: Yes, I do. They were betting on themselves weren't they? To me it sounds as if somebody was out to get one of them. I could see it if they were doing something illegal like throwing a game to make money, but just betting on themselves . . . I think it was too severe, definitely. Somebody has got something against Hornung, that's all. Hornung got all the headlines he rides around town in a big Cadillac . . . I think someone was just a little envious. Hornung is a fabulous player.

Question Of The Week

No, I don't thing it was too severe because, according to their contracts, they weren't supposed to bet.

Al Pirone, Skillman, postal carrier: Yes, I think it was too severe. Everybody that ever played sports has bet at one time or another. It's not considered gambling — it's just friendly betting among players. It's when you start making big bets that you get in trouble. However, I think players are able to distinguish between friendly bets and betting to make big money or betting with gamblers. I don't think either one needed the money, especially Hornung. He was one of the highest paid players and he made even more through advertising endorsements. The year suspension was too much but I don't think it will hurt his ability. He'll come right back. Missing a year won't hurt him. He's a natural athlete — he's proven it all along.

Jerry Fabian, 50 Fisher Place, student at St. Paul's: No, I think it was right. Maybe some other players might be betting not to win but to lose. Once the fans got any word of dishonesty among the players, I think it would drive them away from the sport. In my opinion, betting on games by players can only hurt the sport because sooner or later it would get out of hand.

Don Johnson 111 Birch Avenue, truck driver: Yes, I really think it was too severe. I look at it in the same light as horse racing, another professional sport where a lot of money is bet. I've read in the papers where some of our government officials go to the track and bet and try to make money. Now the horse owners must know these officials but I'm sure they don't try to fix races to win favors from them. Well, I don't think professional football players would ever throw a game to win favors from anybody. It's not worth it. There is too much prestige connected with being a champion in the NFL. If the team wins the title, the players are entitled to a larger bonus. They wouldn't throw any games. Look at all the money they would gain by winning the championship.

Anthony Stango, Philadelphia, salesman: If they were betting against themselves or if it was proven they were shaving points, I could see it, but these were just social bets. Everybody does it. I think the suspension was too severe. A fine would have been enough. As a general rule, I'm opposed to any kind of betting in sports. Look at what it has done to boxing. Pro football is one of the few clean sports left. Let's keep it that way.

Perkiomen, 6-2. Winning pitcher Guy Wirsig aided his cause by stroking a single with the base loaded in the first inning, scoring two runs. Hun scored four runs in the inning.

The Red and Black will try to keep its streak alive when it meets Admiral Farragut, its next opponent. The game will be played Saturday at Toms River. Tuesday, Hun will entertain Solebury. The contest will start at 2:30.

TRYOUTS SCHEDULED

For Ivy Inn Team. Ivy Inn of the Trenton Fast-Pitch Softball League has scheduled tryouts for those who would like to play on the team.

The first will be held Sunday at 1 at the Princeton High School field. All those interested are invited.

LOSING STREAK BROKEN

By Larrie Baseball Team. After four straight losses, the Lawrenceville School baseball team won its first game of the season, defeating Princeton High, 6-5, at home Saturday.

Earlier in the week, the Princeton University freshmen handed the Red and the Black a 13-4 pasting. The Larries were looking for their second win against Hamilton High on Wednesday. They play their seventh consecutive home game on Saturday against St. Benedict's Prep.

The track team opened its season Saturday with a crushing 100-17 defeat of Blair at Blairstown. Warren Moore picked up two firsts for the visitors as they captured the top position in each event.

Moore won the 100-yard dash in 10.3 and was timed in 25.6 for the 220 low hurdles. The next event on the schedule is the Penn Relays on Friday and Saturday in Philadelphia.

The lacrosse team went after its second straight win Wednesday against Hun after beating Peddie, 7-3, at Hightstown the week before. The stickmen will oppose the Adelphi freshmen on Saturday.

"What does a little girl like me know about Gas Heat? Well, let me tell you. First of all, my Daddy always used to complain about the furnace we had. And then Mommy used to tell Daddy he ought to stop complaining about it and do something! So he got the Public Service man to come in to make a free heating survey! It was fun. The man went all over the house. Me too. Anyway, Daddy changed to Gas Heat. I even watched them put it in. Gosh, it was finished so fast that the men were all gone before dinner time. Well, all I know is that last winter Daddy kept saying that Gas Heat is wonderful. And Mommy said she didn't have to do as much housework 'cause Gas Heat kept our curtains and chairs and everything real clean. Golly, what a difference. My Daddy must be smart."

BUSINESS In Princeton

CULLIGAN SOLD

To Former Princetonian. Culligan Water Conditioning Company, Inc., was sold last week to Joseph L. Delafield of North Salem, N. Y., a former Princeton resident. Joseph W. Miller, president and principal owner, represented the seller at Thursday's closing.

Renamed the "Culligan-Nassau Water Conditioning Company," the firm's franchise extends from the Delaware to the Raritan, and from above Hopewell to Hightstown.

Mr. Delafield was raised in Princeton and is a graduate of the Lawrenceville School and Princeton University, Class of 1932. He lived here until 1956.

Well-acquainted with the Stony Brook-Millstone watershed area, he comments, "The water problems in this section are multiplying in direct proportion—even in greater proportion—to the amount of development coming into the area. Among other things, there is an increasing number of polluted wells."

Expansion Planned. Culligan-Nassau, located on Witherspoon Street opposite the Community Park School, has a staff of seven handling the sale, rental and servicing of water conditioning equipment. At present most of the business is with householders, but Mr. Delafield plans to expand operations to include commercial houses, motels, eating places, laundries and hotels.

"Lots of people think of Culligan as merely selling equipment to soften water," he says. "Actually, we condition water in many other ways. Our equipment can remove iron (which causes staining) and dangerous bacteria. We test for alkalinity or acidity of the water and provide the proper equipment for overcoming all kinds of water problems."

Joseph L. Delafield

Mr. Delafield was formerly with Coates & Clark Thread Company, New York City, as assistant to the merchandising manager. From 1956 to 1962, he owned and operated a fuel oil business in Brewster, N. Y., with his brother, William S. Delafield. A few months ago he sold out to his brother. "I wanted to return to Princeton," he says.

In recent years he has served as elder of the Brewster Presbyterian Church, Brewster Rotary Club and Chamber of Commerce, the Croton Falls Volunteer Fire Department and the North Salem Republican Club. He is chairman of the board of advisors of Green Chimneys School, North Salem.

Returning to Princeton with him will be his wife and his sons, Joseph L. III, a Princeton graduate now studying at Harvard Law School, and Lawrence, a freshman at the University of Pennsylvania. Both boys attended Princeton Country Day School. A daughter, Hester, a graduate of Miss Fine's School, is now Mrs. John G. Keller of Washington, D. C.

"It's like coming home to all of us," Mr. Delafield says.

freshmen at New Haven kept the tennis team on its winning ways. The squad travelled to Wallingford, Conn., Wednesday for a match with Choate and will meet the Army Plebes at West Point Saturday.

The golf players were scheduled for a week of college-level competition. They opposed the Princeton freshmen Wednesday and will oppose the Penn yearlings in addition to the Haverford School Saturday. The golfers shut out Blair, 9-0, at Blairstown Saturday.

BOWLING NOTES

Firemen's League Ends. Princeton No. One officially won the second-half title in the Tri-County Firemen's League last week and will meet Lawrenceville, first-half winners, in a playoff this week.

In the final standings, the leaders finished with a total of 70 points, 16 ahead of Dutch Neck and 17 in front of Rocky Hill and Mercer Number Three. Lawrenceville finished fourth with 50 points. George Luck narrowly took scoring honors by a 216-215 margin over Ken Luck. Stan Tatum bowled a 205 and Ray Micinski, 200.

Mike Basile retained his half-game lead in the Individual Classic League with a 56-31 record to Joe Baldino's 55½-31½ mark. Despite his high-scoring performance Gudio Zinetti remained in third place, a game and a half out of first place.

Zinetti rolled a 227 game, five pins better than Bill Rodefeld's 222. Other games to surpass the 200 mark were recorded by Bill Penelli, 216; Zinetti, 205; Al Hibbard, Rodefeld and Basile, 202 each; and Jack Lucey, 200.

Aversano Construction increased its "A" League lead to four points with a three-game sweep. The leaders hold a 37-33 edge over the Knights of Columbus and are seven in front of Cooper and Schafer and Princeton Inn.

In the Industrial League, the Reformers doubled their lead to four points, 44-40, over the Princeton Elks. Para Lab is in third place with 38 points. Bill Dumble had the top score of the week, a 229; Bob King had a 204, and Gib Ireland, 200.

The English Shop won three straight in the Women's Industrial League to go ahead of Decker's Dairy by three points, 58-55. Sara Rose was the top performer of the week with scores of 177 and 171. Trailing her were Irma Mihan, 169; Lillian Burrough and Rose Zinetti, 163 each; and Diane Toto, 162.

DATACENTER DEDICATED

By National Computer Inc. Announcement has been made of the transfer of National Computer Analysts Inc. from its location at the 206 Center to its new, fully-equipped Datacenter building on Route One four miles south of Princeton. Formal dedication of the $700,000 building took place April 10.

NCA, founded two years ago by Sherman Blumenthal, specializes in the processing of large amounts of data such as those involved in banking, general accounting, tax records, inventory control, payroll preparation and sales analysis and forecasting.

Heart of the Datacenter is an RCA 301 computer, which contains a "memory" factor for retaining up to 20,000 units of information. This is further supplemented by information and instructions produced by other electronic devices connected to the computer.

An example of the computer's ability was shown during the day of the dedication exercises when more than 100 of the visitors matched wits with the device in the mathematical game called "Nim." A prize was offered to the first visitor who beats the machine. At day's end, however, nobody walked off with the prize; the computer had won every time.

Part of the bank work already done by National Computer Analysts involved the sorting of checks according to account numbers imprinted on each check by magnetic ink. This service is being used by, among others, the Princeton Bank and Trust Company and the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Company. This sorting is done electronically at a rate of 1500 checks per minute. NCA also has a high-speed printer, which operates at a rate of 120,000 characters per minute.

Taking part in the dedication ceremonies, in addition to Mr Blumenthal and staff, was State Senator Sido L. Ridolfi, who delivered the keynote address. Approximately 400 people attended the exercises and toured the 10,000 square-foot building which, in addition to office space, houses an instruction center, the computer complex and a heavily shielded vault for the safekeeping of clients' records.

HIGHTSTOWN RUG SOLD

To New York Syndicate. The Hightstown Rug Company has been sold to United Industrial Syndicate Inc. of New York. The rug firm, manufacturers of carpets and rugs for over 77 years, maintains showrooms and warehouses in principal cities throughout the United States.

Management of the Hightstown company continues without change. An expansion program is now being drawn up and, with the assistance of United's staff of industrial engineers and management specialists, is expected to move the company into a new phase of steady growth.

OFFICE OPENED HERE

By Insurance Consultant. Saul Siegel of Franklin Park has opened an office at 245 Nassau Street, after joining the Newark general office of the National Life Insurance Company of Vermont.

Prior to joining the Montpelier, Vt., company, Mr. Siegel was associated with Ayerst Laboratories, a pharmaceutical manufacturer, where he helped introduce new drugs to hospitals. Earlier he was engaged in manufacturing with the American Machine & Foundry Company of New York City.

NEW APARTMENTS OPEN

In Windsor Development. Two hundred apartments have been completed at the Princeton Windsor garden-apartment development on Route One, according to the management of the "self-contained" community near Princeton. More than 45 of the units have already been rented.

Each of the 8-unit buildings has its own background of an acre of landscaped grounds and lawns. The area is virtually free of traffic hazards because there are no through streets.

Two furnished model apartments are on display: a one-bedroom unit with living room, terrace, kitchen and dining room, and a larger two-bedrooms suite. Each apartment is air-conditioned and includes combination refrigerator and freezer, dishwasher, laundry area, 2-car parking space, and a closed-circuit TV system which allows tenants to observe their children at play in the pool area.

Also included in the development are two Olympic-size swimming pools, golf course, tennis and badminton courts, ice skating rink, bowling center and movie house and specialty stores within walking distance. Monthly rental prices range from $149 for the one-bedroom apartment to $197.50 and up for the two-bedroom unit.

STORE MANAGER NAMED

By Solfo Paint Company. John D. Prine, formerly manager of the Nassau Paint Store in Princeton, has been named manager of the new Solfo Paint Manufacturing Company's factory store. The store will open in May at Independence Mall, South Broad Street, in Trenton.

Mr. Prine, a member of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce, is a resident of Levittown, Pa.

Music In Princeton

dent of Joseph Fuchs, Mr. Reale is president of the orchestra and will attend the Juilliard School of Music this fall. Mr. Morris has studied percussion for the past 11 years with William G. Street of the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y.

Included in Sunday's program will be Mozart's Symphony No 29 in A Major, Milhaud's Concerto for Percussion and Small Orchestra, Tchaikovsky's Concerto in D Major for Violin and Orchestra, and Piece for Small Orchestra by Richard A. Trythall.

Mr. Trythall is a student of Roger Sessions and the recipient of the Louis A. Wolfson Fellowship for his second year at Princeton. He studied composition with David Van Vactor at the University of Tennessee before coming to Princeton on a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship.

FACULTY WORKS SET

For Concert Monday. Five members of the faculty of the University's department of music will be represented in a concert Monday at 8:30 in 10 McCosh. They are Milton Babbitt, Edward T. Cone, Earl Kim, J. K. Randall and Roger Sessions.

The concert, open to the public without charge, will be presented by the advisory council for the department of music and the Friends of Music at Princeton.

Gunther Schuller will conduct an instrumental ensemble for Mr. Babbitt's "Composition for Tenor and Six Instruments," whose members will be Robert Di Domenica, flute; Ronald Roseman, oboe; Matthew Raimondi, violin; Samuel Rhodes, viola; Michael Rudiakov, cello; and Paul Jacobs, harpsichord. Robert White will be the tenor soloist.

Violinist Yfrah Neaman will play Mr. Cone's "Sonata for Unaccompanied Violin." The three movements are titled Rhapsody, Pavane and Rondo-Finale.

A text by Samuel Beckett is the basis for Mr. Kim's Exercises en Route (Part 1)," which will be conducted by John Harbison. The ensemble will include William Holcombe, piccolo; George Jones, clarinet; Nadia Koutzen, violin; Lewis Lockwood, cello; Donald McLaughlin and Thomas Morris, percussion. Bethany Beardslee will be the soprano soloist.

Miss Beardslee will also perform Mr. Randall's "Improvisation on a poem by e. e. cummings," with Robert Helps, pianist. The text is cummings' poem which begins "somewhere i have never traveled."

Mr Neaman and Mr Helps will conclude the program with Mr Sessions' "Duo for Violin and Piano."

CHECK TERMITE DAMAGE

Every year at this time, homeowners find winged insects that suddenly fly out and then drop their wings and crawl all around. These insects are termites and indicate that there are thousands of other termites still eating the house causing further destruction to the wood of the house. The cost of repairs far exceeds the cost of treatment and goes higher with delay.

Call us for free inspection of your home by experienced personnel.

Our work, which we guarantee for TEN years, is engineered to exceed specifications of existing regulations making us the leaders in the field.

REAL ESTATE

A LIVING & GROWING INVESTMENT. The living part of this property is a genuinely charming old 5 bdrm. home, with fine original detail, plus tenant house & barn, all in A-1 condition. The growing (already begun) should be fabulous in this pleasant Hopewell Twp area, a scenic part of our future—ugh!—"megalopolis." 75 acres, road frontage galore, zoning, location, fields, woods, contours, all add up to a superb long-term investment picture. Meanwhile, the living for a country loving family should be wonderful.

Get away from it all in a LOG CABIN IN THE WOODS, not miles out, as you might think, but almost in the heart of Princeton! Actually, it's fancier than it sounds: A large liv. rm. with cathedral ceiling and huge stone fireplace, attractive paneling made from trees on the place, usable kitchen, smallish din. rm., 2 bdrms. and a real bathroom. Set in 4 treeful acres, the property could be irresistable to wood lovers! $37,500 (less with less land)

OUT OF THE HIGH-PRICED AREA but close to a nice neighboring town and good schools is a well-built ranch that the suddenly transferred owners will lose on to sell fast. Liv. rm. (with 6' brick fireplace wall), family-dining rm., stunning kitchen, 3 big bdrms., 2 tiled baths, full dry basement—all are large. All this set on 1½ beautifully planted acres for only $26,500 (with a very low down payment) should persuade knowledgeable budgeters to drop the Princeton point of view!

WITH A SLIGHTLY ELEGANT AIR but still warm and welcoming, this West End Colonial has interior and exterior appeal. A large liv. rm. opens onto a dreamy terrace, enhanced by a landscaper's inspiration: wisteria overhead to let winter sun in and vice-versa. The bdrms. (3 or 4) are nice, specially the master suite. The kitchen, with eating area, is one any cook would love to work in; though the equipment is not 1963, the charm and workability are timeless. Piece de resistance: bewitching studio overlooking enchanting garden. $67,500

THE TREES STAYED... AND SO WILL YOU!

When these lovely homes were built in Lawrence Township ... the trees stayed. Hundreds of towering oaks and pines, majestic hickories and flowering dogwoods. The land was the site of a famous tree nursery. The soil is rich, the terrain gently rolling. Next door to the Green Acres Golf Course. An elementary school right on the grounds. Only one mile to the new Lawrenceville Shopping Center. Ten minutes from Princeton and Trenton.

This perfect site attracted one of the finest custom home builders of Princeton. He is building these 33 homes with the quality and luxury features that are his trademark. Come out today. You'll stay!

SMALL FAMILY? 3 bedrooms, full bath and powder room, and an inviting living room with fireplace and bookcases, plus a large backyard securely fenced and attractively landscaped make this a particularly cosy and charming home. $26,500

LARGE FAMILY? 5 bedrooms in this home, on a circle in the Township, where traffic hazards are not a worry. Ingeniously planned so that parents can live their own life, and the children can enjoy their friends. Large living room, with fireplace, dining room, a dream of a kitchen, huge playroom with door to garden. Laundry and extra playroom in basement. Master bedroom 30 x 25, 2 baths and powder room. The yard is fenced and attractively landscaped. Here is a place that gives you a fine reason for moving to Princeton. $49,500

LUXURY IN THE WOODS . . . a long, lovely Contemporary home on two acres with a regiment of lofty trees. Lawn and shrubs flourish in the clearing around the house. Indoors, a marvelous kitchen with wall ovens, breakfast counter, space for washer and dryer, electric dishwasher, serving counter opening to dining room. Living room, dining room and master bedroom all have sliding glass doors leading to separate terraces. Off the spacious foyer, a paneled study, a long hall with its modern storage wall, and 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, powder room. This is country living at its finest — the utmost in privacy and comfort. $59,500

STATELY GEORGIAN . . . amid flowering dogwoods and beautiful shade trees, this exquisite Colonial genuinely belongs on two of the Township's most costly acres. Its fine period woodwork in hall and living room, the traditional proportions of its spacious dining room, the charm of its paneled study, the practical features of its modern kitchen and laundry—all this is what you'd expect in such a setting. Second floor: master bedroom with many-closeted dressing room and its own bath; 2 other fine bedrooms and bath, and a large storage area. Attic fan for summer comfort. Here is a fine residence in a locale distinguished for its many beautiful homes. $69,500

UNDER TOWERING TREES . . . this strikingly attractive home will appeal to the imaginative. Long, low, white clapboards (of aluminum, and you know that means low maintenance) . . . this has an unusual floor plan which invites your flair for home decoration. Entrance hall flows into dining area. Huge living room with sliding glass doors to terrace. Kitchen with many cabinets and breakfast area. 3 bedrooms, 3 baths, large closets. Quiet gas heat. On an acre and three quarters, with a fine, new blacktop driveway and turnaround, small space for lawn and garden (to spare your back) and the rest in its natural state. This place is just waiting for your good taste with shrubs and evergreens to transform it into a small estate. $36,500
